CABINET HANDS RESIGNATION TO JAPAN'S RULER

Conservative Government Gives Up Reins After Hasty Meeting.

LEADER OF LIBERALS IS CALLED TO PALACE

Foreign Policy Blamed for Concluding Tanaka's Tenure of Office.

KELLOGG PEACE PACT SIGNATURE CRITICIZED

YUCO HAMAGACHI.

Tokyo, Tuesday, July 2 (A.P.).—Baron Tanaka, premier of Japan for the past two years, tendered the resignation of his cabinet to Emperor Hirohito at the imperial palace today.

Yugo Hamagachi, Liberal Minseito leader, was summoned to the palace shortly after the emperor had received the baron.

Tokyo, July 1 (A.P.).—Baron Gitchi Tanaka's Conservative cabinet, which has rocked unsteadily on the seat of government for some weeks, decided today to resign tomorrow after a hastily summoned meeting of the ministers this morning.

The foreign policy of the Conservatives was chiefly responsible for ending their tenure of office.

Criticism Was Bitter.

Criticism had been bitter in the Diet and in the nation of the government's procedure in handling signature of the Kellogg peace pact. The recent investigation of the assassination of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin at Mukden last year brought the situation to a crisis.

The Liberal Minseito party was expected to succeed the Tanaka cabinet. Yugo Hamagachi, Liberal leader, will probably be requested by the mikado to form a new government, with Baron Kijuro Shidehara, Japanese Ambassador to Washington in 1922, directing the ministry of foreign affairs.

Commercial circles were optimistic at the prospect of a Liberal cabinet pledged to retrenchment of expenditure and removal of the gold embargo. This optimism was emphasized by a rise of five-eighths of a point in the New York rate on Tokyo and a farthing in the London rate. The market closed strong.

Punishment Insisted Upon.

In the investigation of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin's assassination, Japanese army officers were absolved from blame for the act itself, but it was insisted that certain officers be punished for failing to notify the home office of withdrawal of their supervision along the railway line the night the marshal was to pass that section of the line.

Gen. Shirakawa, minister of war, protested against the idea of punishment and stubbornly refused to carry it out. In this he was supported by the army.

As regards the Kellogg peace pact, Baron Tanaka's cabinet was criticized for allowing so much opposition to materialize against the signature. This opposition was directed against the phrase, "In the names of their respective peoples," which was considered to violate the prerogatives of the emperor.

The Tanaka cabinet took office in April, 1927, and was reconstituted in 1928.

TAX SLASH IS TALKED BECAUSE OF SURPLUS

Little Chance for Any Action Before December Session of Congress.

MELLON HAS SCANT HOPE

(Associated Press.)

Tax reduction talk sounded forth yesterday as a surprising $185,000,000 surplus was announced by the Treasury at the close of the Government's business year, but it was only a murmur so far as administration tongues were concerned.

Asked whether there was any prospect of the Treasury recommending lowering of taxes in view of the good showing on the Federal balance sheet, Secretary Mellon said that question had not been considered. He declined to amplify.

The White House was silent on the sub act, but varying views were expressed on Capitol Hill. The prevalent impression there was that the administration would sanction no cut before the regular congressional session in December, if then.

Chairman Hawley of the House Ways and Means Committee, which must originate all tax legislation, withheld an opinion as to any tax slash pending a determination of how Federal receipts keep up and expenditures can be kept down for the year's remainder. If the situation is favorable in December, he thinks one will be "possible."

Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance Committee, generally an administration spokesman on financial affairs, hastened to declare "nothing doing" as the cry for reduction was revived by Democrats on the committee.

Senators Simmons, of North Carolina and Harrison of Mississippi, ranking minority members of the finance committee, declared the tremendous surplus sustained their contentions for greater tax relief in the last revenue measure two years ago. Both intend to press for tax reduction, but said they wanted to study the source of this year's surplus before outlining a program.

They described the surplus announcement, following predictions of a deficit, as "the same old story." The Democrats have contended recent administrations have been too conservative in the fiscal estimates, thereby forestalling more complete tax reduction.

The tax cut discussion is expected to continue more or less steadily until December, and to hinge largely on the $185,000,000 surplus, with a resulting crystallization of the divergent views as to how a tax cut should be applied.

GUNMAN IS HELD KEY WITNESS IN MARLOW DEATH

Wild-Eyed Sicilian Taken; Whalen Seeks Man Who Hired Slayers.

GRASSO, M'DERMOTT ARE THOUGHT KILLERS

Detectives Scour Dives of City in Effort to Find Their Employers.

BULLETS COMPARED WITH FATAL MISSILE

Case May Be Linked With Death of Speakeasy Proprietor Saturday Night.

New York, July 1 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Frank Marlow, who moved mysteriously in the under world, was murdered last week by hired gunmen, and Police Commissioner Whalen's detectives are combing the night dives of New York and Boston for the persons who did the hiring.

Of the seven material witnesses jailed during the week since Marlow was pitched from an automobile near Flushing with three fatal bullet wounds, Daniel Grosso, wild-eyed Sicilian gangster, is believed to hold the key which will unlock the greatest gang slaying in New York since Arnold Rothstein went to his grave without telling who shot him in the Park Central Hotel November 4.

With Grosso is Nicholas McDermott whose chief regret seems to be that he is not as tough as Grosso. Both were seized in a neatly planned police raid on a Long Island City apartment house Saturday, when a girl was trailed to the door. She rang the bell. Grosso opened the door. A detective pistol rammed into his side and he put up his hands. So did McDermott.

Evidence Is Presented.

Observers at police headquarters today were weighing the evidence which Commissioner Whalen offered to substantiate his assertion that Grosso and McDermott were probably the murderers of Marlow. Mr. Whalen has offered the following facts to support his theory:

Grosso and McDermott were identified today by a witness who said he saw them in an automobile less than ten minutes from the spot where Marlow was found. This witness also saw a third man in the automobile, but has not been able to describe him to the police. The name of this witness was withheld by the police.

A search of Grosso's effects indicated that he had done "business" with Marlow. Commissioner Whalen will not disclose the nature of this business.

Harry Butts, pistol expert of the police department, has identified the bullet found in Marlow's skull as being of the same unusual make as several bullets found in the apartment occupied by Grasso and McDermott, although the Marlow bullet was fired from a .32-caliber pistol, while the bullets found in the apartment were .38-caliber.

Might Have Been Going Home.

In support of the theory that Grasso and McDermott did not kill Marlow it has been pointed out that the two men lived near the place where they were seen on the night Marlow was murdered and might have been going to their home. Also, the witness who saw Marlow walk toward an automobile near Broadway and Fifty-second street 45 minutes before he was murdered has not identified Grosso or McDermott as the occupants of the automobile.

Commissioner Whalen is carefully guarding his theory for the motive behind the killing of Marlow.

"I can say that Marlow may have been reaching out into criminal circles

Boy, 6, Who Murdered Playmate, Is Paroled

Kentucky Court Sets Aside 15-year Sentence to Reformatory.

CARL MAHAN.

Paintsville, Ky., July 1 (A.P.).—Carl Newton Mahan, 6-year-old slayer, was declared a delinquent today when he was arraigned for the second time before County Judge John W. Butcher and was ordered paroled in the custody of the Kentucky Children's Bureau, a State organization whose functions are mostly of an advisory nature.

Pending decision of the bureau as to what disposition shall be made of the boy, he was left in the custody of his parents. This action was taken at the suggestion, Judge Butcher said, of Mrs. Emma Hunt, Louisville, director of the bureau.

Before entering the order today, Judge Butcher set aside his order of May 23 sentencing the boy to 15 years imprisonment in the State House of Reform. This order already had been deadlocked by a writ of prohibition from the Johnson Circuit Court, which held that the county judge had no authority to pass finally on the case of any person accused of murder or manslaughter.

John W. Wheeler, counsel for the boy, who demanded a jury at the earlier trial and who obtained the writ from the higher court, said that if the bureau leaves the boy with his parents the delinquency order will not be opposed. If an attempt is made to place him in an institution or another home, he said, an appeal will be taken.

Judge Butcher instituted the delinquency proceedings Saturday following the prosecution of the boy's father, John Mahan, a taxicab driver, on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

The State attorney general, who examined the record of the case carefully and took no action toward enforcing the original judgment, had advised him that the law allows a delinquency proceeding, Judge Butcher said.

The boy killed his playmate, Cecil Van Hoose, with his father's gun after the two had quarreled over a piece of scrap iron.

Louisville, Ky., July 1 (A.P.).—Mrs. Emma Hunt, director of the Kentucky Children's Bureau, said today that she

BETTMAN APPOINTED LAW GROUP ADVISER

Cincinnati Expert to Study Prosecution Systems in Use Over Nation.

SEEK OTHER TECHNICIANS

(United Press.)

President Hoover's law enforcement commission yesterday announced the appointment of Alfred Bettman, of Cincinnati, as one of its technical advisers.

This is the first such appointment. The commission plans to retain ten or twelve experts to direct the collection of data on the various phases of crime and criminal justice into which its inquiry will be divided.

Bettman will conduct an investigation into methods of prosecution and operation of prosecutors' offices. He has made similar studies in previous surveys of crime. In 1920, he conducted a similar investigation of criminal prosecutions in Cleveland under auspices of the Cleveland Foundation.

During the war, Bettman was special assistant to the Attorney General in the war division of the Department of Justice. He has also served as assistant prosecuting attorney of Hamilton County, Ohio, and as city solicitor of Cleveland.

The commission is selecting with utmost care its staff of so-called technical advisers, who will probably do most of the work of collecting the information on which the commission bases its findings and recommendations.

It is being particularly careful in its selection of a man to conduct its prohibition survey. Several names have been mentioned but it is understood no one has been offered the position.

Each of the commission's experts will be given a clerical staff to assist in his investigation. The size of this staff will depend largely upon the needs of the individuals. The commission plans to allow them considerable latitude in their methods of collecting the necessary information.

The commission itself is now installed in a new office building near the Department of Justice with a clerical staff of fourteen persons under the direction of Max Lowenthal, recently appointed secretary.

Two commissioners share one private office now but additional space may be secured so that each may have an office of his own when the commission gets down to work. The experts will have quarters in the same building.

The commission is now in recess but will resume work late this month. It will devote itself first to a study of existing records on law enforcement and hold public hearings in the fall.

BRIDE TO ASK QUIZ INTO GAS PURCHASE

Delay in Providing Names of Owners of Washington Firm Scored.

HINT MERGER VIOLATION

Corporation Counsel William W. Bride today will ask the Department of Justice to launch an investigation of the purchase of controlling interest in the Washington Gas Light Co. by outsidet interests to determine whether the company was bought in violation of the La Follette antimerger law.

Bride is to confer this morning with J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, to lay before him the problem of ascertaining the true ownership of the recently purchased gas stock.

Decision to call on the Department of Justice for aid was reached by Bride yesterday following conversations with representatives of the purchasers of the gas company stock.

The request for aid had been withheld by the corporation counsel at the request of the attorneys for Dana A. Pearson and other purchasers of the gas stock. They said they would furnish Bride and the utilities commission with a full statement of the new owners of the stock and asked for a few days beyond last Friday, the day on which they said their agreement to purchase all minority stock offered them at $125 a share.

Their attorneys yesterday reiterated their former statements that there has been no violation of law in the purchase of the gas company stock. They agreed, too, to furnish the names of the new owners, but refused to fix a definite date.

Thereupon Bride ended the negotiations, declaring that while he was willing to give the new owners every consideration he did not intend to permit them to put the District government in a position of waiting complacently on their pleasure.

Frankly, District officials do not expect to find the name of any foreign utility or holding company listed among the new owners of the gas company. It is not a violation of the antimerger law for individuals to purchase interest in local utilities.

Not only Bride but members of the new utilities commission believe that every legitimate effort should be made to discover the identity of the interests which have taken over control of the

POLICE TRAFFIC NET TAKES 223; MISHAPS BUT 8

Results of 6-Day Drive Obvious in Decrease of Accidents.

POLICEMAN IS INJURED BADLY BY STREET CAR

Other Six Hurts of Minor Nature; Cuban's Car in Crash.

MOTORCYCLE SQUAD LIKELY TO BE KEPT

Stiff Sentences Continue to Be Given Offenders in Court Trials.

The number of arrests for traffic violations showed no abatement last night under the high average established six days ago when Maj. Henry G. Pratt started his concentrated drive against offenders, but the number of accidents showed a sharp decrease under those of a week ago when four persons were killed and seven seriously injured.

Arrests yesterday totaled 223, of which the Traffic Bureau made 72, and 151 were credited to the various precincts. There were eight accidents in which seven persons were injured.

Probably the most serious accident was that in which E. B. Turner, policeman attached to the Traffic Bureau, was run down by a trolley car operated by Bernard Sanford, who asserts he misunderstood a signal given by Turner at Fifth and G streets northwest, where the officer was on duty.

Turner, who is 41 years old and lives at 5418 Eighth street northwest, was rushed to George Washington Hospital by J. J. Fegan, a passing motorist. At the hospital it was stated that Turner's condition was serious and that he was suffering from a possible fractured skull and internal injuries. Sanford gave his address as Eckington Car Barns.

One Hit-and-Run Case.

One hit-and-run case was reported in the day's annals of the Traffic Bureau.

Struck by a hit-and-run driver at Twenty-third street and Virginia avenue northwest, William Johnson, colored, of 2523 E street northwest, was treated at Emergency Hospital for minor injuries and sent home.

An automobile operated by Millard Sniffen, 25 years old, of 2136 Linn avenue southeast, ran into the rear of a car operated by Orestes Garcia Jaime, 34 years old, who gave his address as the Cuban Embassy. The accident occurred while both cars were moving northward on East Executive avenue. No one was hurt, but Jaime's car was slightly damaged. Sniffen was ordered to appear in Traffic Court today.

Ben Orleans, 22 years old, of 4841 Kansas avenue northwest, was injured when an automobile he was driving collided at Connecticut avenue and Florida avenues northwest with a truck operated by J. Calvin Butt, of 4421 Alton place northwest. Orleans was treated at Emergency Hospital for a cut on his left arm.

Boy, 3, Knocked Down.

William Wade, 3 years old, of 1636 Fifth street northwest, was knocked down and injured at Fifth and R streets northwest by an automobile driven by Charles L. Divine, of 3322 O street northwest, employed by Budd's, police reported. The child was taken to Freedman's Hospital and treated for bruises on his forehead.

Mrs. Margaret Sabtha, of 1907 Fifteenth street northwest, suffered lacerations of the head when an automobile in which she was a passenger collided with another machine at the intersection of Tenth and O streets northwest. The car in which Mrs. Sabtha was riding was driven by her daughter,

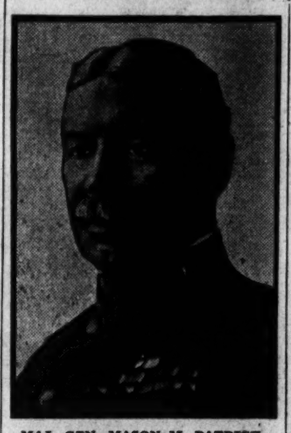
PREMIER READY FOR NAVY TALK, HOOVER BELIEF



MAJ. GEN. MASON M. PATRICK.

President, Stimson Expect Word From MacDonald Within Few Days.

U. S. TO LET ENGLAND TAKE LEAD IN PARLEY

Parity Plan to Be Insisted Upon, Officials Here Intimate.

YARDSTICK LARGEST CLAUSE OF PROBLEM

No Approval Will Be Given Until Experts Have Studied All Angles of Issue.

President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson are expecting an announcement from Premier MacDonald within the next few days that will resolve the still nebulous naval disarmament program into something as tangible as an invitation or call for a meeting of experts from the leading maritime powers.

The administration policy, as previously explained, is to let the British premier take the lead and from the tenor of reports of the last few days from Ambassador Dawes there is general confidence on this side that MacDonald is now prepared to act. There is no intimation given here of what his next step is to be, other than to announce some method for getting a direct exchange of views among the powers, presumably on the vexed question of a measuring "yardstick" with which to reach an agreement primarily affecting cruiser strength.

It remains true that the President, who was in conference with Secretary Stimson late yesterday, will not give approval to the MacDonald program until it is carefully studied, since the present determination is to avoid rushing into any conference unless it holds out some hope of success. An exchange of views among experts would be agreeable as a means of developing the hoped-for yardstick which the statesmen will be asked to apply, probably at a subsequent and more formal meeting.

Government Holds to Parity.

That this Government is not going to give up the still translated rule of "parity" was emphasized yesterday by Secretary Stimson in a statement aimed at reports from London that parity implied hostility rather than peace and is not consonant with the spirit of the negotiations now under way.

Mr. Stimson declared that parity, on the contrary, implied peace, since nations bent on fighting each other do not agree to have equal navies. His statement said:

"The doctrine of parity, in my opinion, is of very great importance as a means of determining, not how two nations are to shoot at each other, but as a means of helping them to agree not to shoot at each other. The first step which people take when they are going to shoot at each other is to try to outbuild each other in the shape of navies. The minute they agree not to outbuild each other, they are taking one of the longest steps possible toward not having a war. That is why we are laying stress on the doctrine of parity."

Some Suspicion Felt.

There is some suspicion at the State Department that the idea of abandoning parity emanated from British admiralty quarters, where it has never been conceded, regardless of the Washington treaties. However, the Stimson statement pleased those of the big navy group here who insist upon parity, not only as a concept—which has yet to be defined—but because they think cruiser reduction is impossible as long as parity remains a rule.

Their view is that as long as parity prevails between Great Britain and the United States, the British will not agree to scrap cruisers while the United

NEW TRACTION PLAN FOR MERGER SOUGHT

BUS LINES NOT AFFECTED

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday called on the Capital Traction and the Washington Railway & Electric Companies to submit a new merger proposal.

No mention was made by the commission of the Washington Rapid Transit Bus Co., nor was any reference made to the Potomac Electric Power Co., which is owned by the Washington Railway & Electric Co.

The commission's call for a new merger agreement was made in a letter sent the companies signed by Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the new utilities commission. This action was exclusively forecast in The Post Sunday.

The commission is "strongly of the opinion" that a merger is desirable for the best interests of the public and the companies, Gen. Patrick said, and "wishes to be informed whether your company is willing to be a party to such a merger agreement" to be presented for early action by the commission.

"If you are unwilling," Patrick told the companies, "you are requested to state, at some length, your reasons for declining to do so."

The action of the commission was a surprise to the transportation companies, which are preparing to argue their case before the commission for higher street car fares.

The request that the companies submit a new merger proposal, however, had no connection with the pending fare raise case, Gen. Patrick and other members of the commission said, in making public the commission's letter.

"Mr. Hartman, Col. Ladue and myself have had the matter under consideration for some time," Patrick said. "Had we been in office a sufficient length of time to familiarize ourselves with all of the facts we would have requested the companies to submit a new merger agreement on June 2, the day after the old agreement expired. There is no connection at the present time between the merger and the pending fare raise case."

None the less, the fact that the commission did not delay reviving the merger discussion until after settlement of the car fare question was regarded as significant.

What the companies will do about the matter has not been decided. William P. Ham, president of the Washington Railway & Electric Co., said

Leiter Estate Row Renewed in Chicago

Lady Suffolk Asks That Brother Be Removed as Fund Trustee.

Chicago, July 1 (A.P.).—Another round of the court battle between Joseph Leiter and his sister, Lady Suffolk, over control of the $30,000,000 estate left by their father, Levi Z. Leiter, was staged today in a petition filed with the appellate court asking Leiter's removal from trusteeship of the estate.

In addition to Lady Suffolk's petition, a similar action was taken in the same court in behalf of Mary Irene Curzon, Cynthia Blanche Mosley and Alexandra Naldera Metcalf, children of Lady Curzon, deceased sister of Lady Suffolk and of Leiter.

The petitions charge Leiter with perjury, misappropriation of funds and mismanagement of the estate. Appeal was made from the decision of a circuit court here which refused to remove Leiter at the conclusion of a trial several months ago.

Woman Cloakmakers To Begin Strike Today

New York, July 1 (A.P.).—The International Ladies Garment Workers Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, tonight issued an order for a strike tomorrow of 28,000 cloakmakers.

The immediate cause of the strike was said to be failure to agree on a new wage scale to replace the old one which expired June 1.

Amateur Dramatists Seek Fame in Post-Fox Contest

Vision Real Opportunities for Crashing Gate to Movie-Talkies.

Amateur actors and actresses, who have made numerous appearances before Capital audiences in plays, recitals and in connection with other events of the stage, are competing in The Post-Fox Screen Test Contest, now in its third and final week, with a view to making further use of their talents now that talking pictures are the craze in every city, town and hamlet.

These amateurs, many of whom have had several semiprofessional experiences in stage work and who have been commended for pleasing personalities, excellent voices or their dancing ability, realize that the first step toward gaining a foothold in the motion picture industry is to get the attention of the men who rule the movie world.

Mellon Vetoes Barbed Wire Plan for Canadian Border

Insists, However, Lowman and Doran Both Will Retain Posts.

Uncle Sam has no intention of erecting a barbed-wire barricade on the American-Canadian border to keep out rumrunners, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon declared yesterday.

It was only necessary for the Treasury head to issue this one denial to destroy the barricade project, but it took two to stop the talk about Assistant Secretary Lowman and Prohibition Commissioner Doran getting out. And even those may not stop it.

Not since the Hoover administration came in has a report persisted in the face of official denials as has the one concerning Lowman's resignation. After it broke Saturday, Lowman denied it and the White House denied it, and still it would not down. Yesterday

States scraps blue prints. The big obstacle to a further naval accord is to get around the fact that both Great Britain and Japan have more cruisers now than this country.

President Coolidge was willing to enter an agreement for a limitation that preserved the British and Japanese cruiser strength without scrapping and called for considerable more building by the United States. Even that was unacceptable at Geneva.

Hoover Makes Bargain Difficult.

Mr. Hoover, who wants reduction rather than mere limitation, seeks to make a bargain much more difficult to get through. The idea with which the naval experts and State Department officials have been conjuring in an effort to get around the problem, is to work out a "yardstick" that measures combatants, rather than separate categories of ships, so that sea powers would be allotted so much total strength by fighting units consisting, for instance, of battleships, several cruisers and destroyers, submarines and other auxiliary craft.

It is hoped, in this way, to assign the five major sea powers, Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and the United States, a variant of the global tonnage allowance which will not require much, if any, scrapping by the powers with comparatively great strength in various categories. However, naval authorities here have not yet been able to work this or any other scheme out to the point where it can be applied practically.

TWO TOWNS ELECT IN PRINCE GEORGES

Bromley and Bost Are Named Mayors of Colmar Manor and Edmonston.

BITTER FACTIONAL FIGHT

Town elections were held yesterday in two Prince Georges County towns, Edmonston and Colmar Manor. Both campaigns were marked by bitter factional fights. The "outs" were victorious in both campaigns.

B. M. Bromley, former town clerk, was elected mayor of Colmar Manor, defeating J. Ridley Shields. The Bromley ticket was victorious throughout. Others elected were: E. Charvoz, town clerk; G. A. Wood, treasurer; J. N. Torvestad, councilman from the First Ward and G. W. Cox, councilman from the Third Ward.

Shields' running mates who were defeated were: V. E. Barry, for town clerk; R. N. Moreland, for treasurer, and J. A. Nebel, for councilman from the Third Ward.

Mayor John S. White was not a candidate for reelection.

Adolphus E. Bost was elected mayor of Edmonston by a majority nearly double that of his opponent, Mayor John Salzman, who was running for reelection. Bost received 73 votes and Salzman polled 46. The election follows a hard-fought campaign bteween the two factions.

Henry A. Eberle, who has been treasurer since the incorporation of the town, in 1925, was unopposed for reelection. Charles Martin, of the Salzman faction, was elected councilman from the First Ward without opposition He received 19 vites. The Bost candidate, Milton M. Clarke, the incumbent, was disqualified by the election board because it was discovered that one of his ten signers was not a qualified voter.

The contest for councilman in the Second Ward resulted in a tie between Martin U. White, of the Bost faction, and W. W. Lewis, of the Salzman party. Each received 38 votes. Inasmuch as there are two vacancies it is expected that the mayor and town council will decide to seat both as councilmen from the Second Ward.

A public hearing on aplications for permits under the new roadhouse law of Prince Georges County will be held today by the county commissioners at Upper Marlboro. Three such establishments applied for permits in time to allow hearing of their pleas today. They are the Lone Star Inn, the Club Marlboro and the Prince Georges Inn.

A determined group of residents of the county is expected to appear at the hearing today to oppose the granting of the permits. Several civic, business and church organizations have urged their membership to attend the meeting.

Under the county law, passed by the State Legislature as a result of the shooting of Charles Wesley Poutra at the Green Gables roadhouse at Suitland, all establishments which attract the patronage of the public with food and drink and permit dancing more than one night a week, must secure permits from the county commissioners who are empowered to grant or reject. The applications must be filed with commissioners and published in the county newspapers at least twice before the hearing.

Richmond Men Purchase Danville Bond Issue

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., July 1.—Two issues of city bonds, totaling $140,000, were sold this evening to Frederick E. Nolting and the Planters State Bank of Richmond for $136.133, or $97.22 of par. It was the first time the city auditor said that local bonds have been sold under their face value, this being due to the present stringency of the money market. There were two other bidders within close range. The bonds represented $100,000 refunding bonds issued 30 years ago for a street paving project and $40,000 bonds to defray the expense of water main project now in progress.

Nicholson May Succeed Clary as Tax Supervisor

Cumberland, Md., July 1.—Announcement has been made that Somerville Nicholson, Republican, this city, would be named within the next few days by the State Tax Commission as supervisor of assessments for Alleghany County, to succeed Roderic Clary, who resigned after having filled the position fifteen years. Nicholson's name was one of five submitted by the Allegany County commissioners, and it is understood he was indorsed by the Republican State central committee and his appointment met with approval by local Democratic leaders.

KENSINGTON BRIDGE LOCATION SELECTED

Maryland and Montgomery Officials Choose Lincoln Avenue Crossing.

COURT REPORT DUE TODAY

Members of the State Roads Commission and Montgomery County officials yesterday afternoon inspected the seven sites which have been proposed for the overhead bridge, which will be erected at Kensington to eliminate the present grade crossing.

After discussion between the roads commission and county officials it was decided that the best site for the bridge will be the Lincoln avenue site. A concrete road will be constructed from Connecticut avenue at Baltimore street to extend about three blocks to the crossing.

The inspection was well attended by citizens, as well as officials. Chairman Uhl and Road Commissioners Bruce and Shaw, with Chief Engineer Harry D. Williar and Bridge Engineer Hopkins, represented the roads commission. Dr. Benjamin C. Perry, president of the board; Clagett C. Hilton and Lacy Shaw were the county commissioners present. Robert G. Hilton, James H. Cissel and Chief Engineer Irving C. Root represented the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

State Senator Eugene Jones and his son, Charles Jones, who have been active in the crossing controversy, which has been going on several years, were present. Members of the town council of Kensington attended in a body.

County Commissioner Shaw and Berry E. Clark, clerk to the county commissioners, who were appointed a committee to inquire into the plan for purchase of the square west of the Rockville Courthouse by the county for erection of a new courthouse and jail, will report today at the meeting of the board of county commissioners in Rockville.

Shaw and Clarke interviewed the owners of the property with a view to securing the lowest price possible on the properties in order to avoid condemnation proceedings. The Farmers Banking and Trust Co. was the only property owner they did not hold consultations with. The bank is satisfied to have a suitable site obtained for it and it was not believed necessary to consult with its officials at this time.

It is expected that the committee will report that condemnation proceedings should be instituted in order that more equitable prices can be obtained. It is known that the prices which have been asked are so widely divergent for properties which appear to have the same value that it hardly would be policy to accept the prices as they stand.

The county commissioners probably will decide today whether or not condemnation proceedings should be instituted. It was hoped to avoid this step and some way of securing the property at prices which are considered proper may be worked out at the meeting today.

The law firm of Cissel & Woodward, counsel to the county commissioners, has prepared an opinion which declares that the county commissioners would be justified under existing legislation to institute such proceedings.

Fred L. Harveycutter, of 208 Kennedy drive, Kenwood, Md., yesterday was severely injured when he was struck with stones thrown at his car by boys on the River road near the Kenwood Club. The boys were throwing stones at passing automobiles and several of the missles struck Mr. Harveycutter. He was cut on the arm and his chest was bruised.

Montgomery County police of the Bethesda substation were notified and are looking for the boys.

Two men were arrested on charges of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor yesterday by Montgomery County police. Both figured in accidents before their arrests.

Henry Howlett, of the Mayflower Hotel, who said he was a tourist agent, was arrested by County Policeman Douglas Dosh, of the Bethesda substation, near Bethesda, after Rockville police had asked the Bethesda substation to look for him.

According to police, Howlett was the the driver of a rented car, which collided with the automobile of Lester R. Bogley, of Rockville, on the Rockville pike near Rockville, and then failed to stop. According to Policeman Dosh, Howlett was driving in a zig-zag manner when he stopped him. Howlett also was charged with driving without a permit.

Elmer S. Everson, colored, of Germantown, Md., was arrested by County Policeman Robert Howes, following an accident at Germantown in which Everson's car was in collision with a car driven by Mrs. W. G. Iglehart, of Germantown, and then ran 15 feet further down the road and collided with the bank.

Sam Foreman, Gretta Sidney and Mary Swan, all colored, of Germantown, were badly shaken up and bruised in the crash. They were passengers in Everson's car.

The two drivers were released on bond to appear in county police court later.

ALEXANDRIA MAKES PLANS FOR ELECTION

MAN FIRES AT POLICEMAN

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Arrangements were completed by the city electoral board last night for the printing of the ballots for the Democratic primary here August 6 and also to take action on the registration of all persons living in the territory recently acquired from Fairfax County by annexation. It is understood there are approximately 90 qualified voters in that territory.

The candidates for local offices whose names will appear on the ballots are Charles H. Callahan, commissioner of revenue; Roger C. Sullivan, city treasurer; Elliott F. Hoffman, clerk of the corporation court; Richard H. Cox, city sergeant, all of whom are without opposition in the primary; Albert V. Bryan, incumbent, and Frederick G. Duvall, for Commonwealth's attorney; William S. Snow, incumbent, Aylett B. Nicol and Clyde B. Lanham, for civil and police justice; J. Fred Birrell, incumbent, and Howard T. Colvin, delegate to the legislature.

Each of these candidates, with the exception of the commissioner of revenue and the city treasurer, will have further opposition in the general election. For clerk of the corporation court Miss Cora Duffey and W. Selden Washington have announced their candidacy, subject to the November general election; Irvin Diener and John Barton Phillips are candidates for Commonwealth's attorney and Tyson Janney will oppose the winner of the primary for the legislature.

No trace has been found by the police of James Robinson, colored, who, according to the police, fired several shots at Policeman Curtis Sunday night in the course of a chase through the streets after the officer had attempted to halt Robinson, the latter having driven his auomobile past a red traffic light at King and Alfred streets.

According to the report made by Officer Curtis, he attempted to halt the driver of the car for violating the traffic regulation and the man turned east on Prince street, and on the 300 block Royal street the officer claims the negro fired at him. The report states that the fugitive car turned east on Wolfe street to Lee street, when additional shots were fired at the officer, who continued the pursuit, returning the fire. At Fairfax and Jefferson streets, according to the officer, the negro deserted his car and ran into the swampy section adjoining the shipyard, where he was lost sight of.

Other policemen and a number of civilians joined in the search for the man supposed to be Robinson, but were unsuccessful in locating him. In the meantime a crowd numbering approximately 100 persons gathered around police headquarters, the report having been circulated that "Kid Lilly," alleged slayer of Police Sergt. McClary, had been located. This report proved without foundation, however, and the crowd, composed apparently in the main of curiosity seekers, dispersed.

Robinson is regarded as an inoffensive, quiet person, and several persons who are acquainted with him expressed surprise that he should have fired at the policeman, or that he was armed. One of his colored acquaintances stated yesterday that Robinson has been engaged in the sale of tickets in a gambling pool, and that in all probability he feared arrest for that reason, which accounted for his frenzied attempt to escape. The officer's report indicates that nine shots were fired in all, four by the negro and five by the policeman, none of which apparently took effect.

The automobile driven by Robinson was shown by the records to belong to another colored man, who claims to have loaned it to Robinson.

Police Capt. W. W. Cambell has submitted his report for the month of June to Acting City Manager E. C. Dunn, with the statement that 299 arrests were made in that period, a drop of 36 in the arrests in May. The largest number, 75, for one offense, was for being drunk on the street; others wer traffic law, 31; prohibition, 28; menace to health 27.

The report also contains the record of the fatal shooting of Police Sergt. Charles H. McClary, stating the murderer is still at large and that 4,000 circulars have been sent out with his description and the offer of a reward for his apprehension.

The new officers of the Rotary Club will be installed at the meting to be held at 12:30 today at the George Mason Hotel, when John T. Worthington wil lpresent the retiring president, C. S. Taylor Burke, with a past president's pin. The retiring president will give a resume of the Rotary accomplishments during the past year, and will then turn the gavel over to the new president, Dr. S. Nelson Gray.

George F. Downham will be in charge of the entertainment, which will include solos by Donald Jameson.

Elvin Robertson, aged 27 years, of Barcroft, Arlington County, who was injured in an airplane accident Sunday evening, 5 miles south of Alexandria on the Fort Humphreys road, was still in a serious condition, was the report at the Alexandria Hospital last night. Frederick Korte, of Easton, Md., the other man in the plane when it crashed, is improving.

Frank B. Sigmon, who was stabbed on Saturday evening by Richard Weadon, was able to leave the hospital yesterday.

Weadon was held for the action of the grand jury in police court yesterday morning, after entering a plea of guilty.

Aylett B. Nicol, who recently resigned the office of substitute civil and police justice, stated yesterday that this action on his part does not mean that he has withdrawn from the race for the nomination for civil and police justice in the Democratic primary, to be held August 6.

Boundaries Relocated In Shenandoah Park Area

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, Va., July 1.—Under the supervision of Thomas T. Early, of Madison County, lines of the Shenandoah National Park, in that section, have again been relocated and many more acres of high-priced land not considered adaptable to park purposes have been eliminated.

The object of the new location of lines has been forced through the boosting of prices on some of the land by the owners. The State Conservation and Development Commission has been steadily going ahead with its purchases in Warren County and will move into Rappahannock County soon. In the meantime, Early has been sent into Rappahannock for the purpose of relocation of any lines necessary.

MAN, EYE BLACKED, SOUGHT IN HOMICIDE

Witness Tells of Companion of Prof. A. H. Johnson, Found Dead in Auto.

HIS BILL FOLDS RIFLED

Atlanta, Ga., July 1 (A.P.).—A well-dressed man with a "black eye" tonight was the object of an intensified search by police in their efforts to unravel the tangled circumstances surrounding the death of Prof. A. H. Johnson, of Hartwell, Ga., whose body was found slumped in his automobile in a remote section of the city early yesterday. Police believe this man, with his finger wrote the succinct message, "Driver unconscious" on the glass window in the rear of Prof. Johnson's automobile after parking it with its owner dead on the front seat.

The man police seek was described at the coroner's inquest by W. W. Wise, employe at a garage where Johnson had driven late Saturday. Wise also told the coroner's jury that Johnson "had been drinking heavily, so heavily in fact, I didn't think he should have been permitted on the streets."

The garage man also said Prof. Johnson acted suspicious of his companion, who described himself as a "schoolmate of the professor's at the University of Georgia."

Wise said the pair finally left his garage, the stranger driving and Johnson on the rear seat. The robbery theory was dampened somewhat by Wise's testimony that Johnson paid him for some work, taking a one dollar bill from his wallet which "as far as I could see was a lone one at that time."

It had previously been reported that the professor carried about $200, but this has not been definitely established. Police held to the robbery theory, however, pointing out that two rifled bill folds were found in the car and that the slain man's pockets were turned inside out, although a valuable watch was left on the body.

Attention was directed to the message written in the dust on the glass in the door by J. L. Snee, near whose home the car was found. Snee said his stepdaughter called his attention to the car in which she said a man was asleep. Snee found Johnson dead, his head brutally beaten.

Other witnesses before the coroner corroborated testimony of Wise and Snee.

The widow, Mrs. Johnson, in testifying before the coroner, said her husband left home at Hartwell before noon Saturday to come to Atlanta for the convention of the National Education Association.

"He told me he had only 15 cents," she said, "but that didn't worry me as I knew he could get a check cashed at either Hartwell or Royston. He wasn't a drinking man and was certainly sober when he left home. He had been requested by letter to attend a conference of agricultural teachers and was to return home Monday."

Evidence that the professor had attempted to cash a check for $100 was given by G. B. Green, who said he had been unable to cash it.

Pope to Leave Vatican First Time in 59 Years

Vatican City, July 1 (A.P.).—Pope Pius will make the first exist of any pontiff from Vatican territory since 1870 on July 25, the feast of St. James the Apostle. He will bear the Eucharist into St. Peter's Square on the occasion of the international pilgrimage of seminarians, and preparations for the event today indicate that he might do the pilgrims the honor of saying mass for them in the open.

It was learned today that he had offered a temporary high altar to be erected outside the basilica with an overhanging baldachin. This was taken as an indication that he might celebrate the mass, as the structure will be more elaborate than would be required for a simple benediction

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGFRON

THE question now, of course, is not whether Mr. Lowman has been fired, but where on earth did he get that quotation, and having gotten it, what does it mean?

"I know that politics inevitably ends sooner or later in tragedy, the tragedy of defeat. Sporadic fame or national prominence is, after all, ashes in a man's mouth."

On this utterance the redoubtable prohibition generalissimo rested his case. As a matter of fact, he won it on the statement because the newspaper men immediately ceased going around collecting up the denials that he had been fired and pointed their endeavors toward finding the author of the quotation. Mr. Lowman left them entirely in the dark.

"Who said this?" he was asked, when he issued th. statement, one that had been well advertised in advance and brought a corps of newspaper men running to the scene.

"Don't you know your American history," he retorted and turned upon his heels.

IT WAS several hours later that the word came that Walter Newton, of the White House secretariat, had said that it was a quotation from Henry Clay, but direct inquiry revealed that Mr. Newton had simply been told this by some one who had heard it from some one else. There was no one at the White House who knew for a fact that it was a quotation from Clay or whether it was a quotation from any one else.

It became quite apparent, indeed, that the statement, just as most of Mr. Lowman's utterances, had been made without the White House's knowledge and without its approval. And the White House, which has become almost hysterical in denying that Mr. Lowman has been fired, made it quite clear that it did not want to be drawn in on his classical allusions.

It was this revelation, that beneath the prohibition chief's breast there beats a poetic yearning, which caused as much surprise as anything else. One would not think it of him, a man of big and robust stature, of gruff though pleasant voice. Prohibition, it would seem, has hidden his better self. Heretofore, he has been looked upon as a man who talked unflinchingly of killings, of shotguns, barbed wire fences and poison. It was not known that his inner self yearned for the finer and more delicate things of life. Certainly there is a poetic side to a man who can sing as the axe swings menacingly over his head.

* * * * *

AT FIRST blush one might think that the utterance was an admission of defeat, an acknowledgment that he was gone. There is a note of martyrdom in it, something that would tend to make his worst enemies say sadly that "Lowman was a good fellow, after all." But the heaping and frenzied nature of the denials seem to dissipate this. Goodness only knows what Mr. Lowman means.

It does not, however, seem likely that Henry Clay could have been the author upon whom he drew. It is not believed that Clay would have spoken in such fashion.

He was not a prohibitionist, so he could know nothing of the taste of ashes in a man's mouth. Had Clay been moved to express himself in a manner ever approaching this he undoubtedly would have referred to that dark brown taste, but nothing that would smack of the dryness that would be ashes in a man's mouth.

It may be that the quotation came from Don Quixote, that man who went out to fight windmills.

TRAFFIC ARRESTS 223 AS DRIVE CONTINUES

Miss Mannie D. Sabtha, of the same address. The other car was operated by Luther N. Groves, of 4600 Kansas avenue northwest, who was going south on Tenth street as Miss Sabtha was moving west on O street.

Mrs. Ada Schimmel, of 1301 Harvard street northwest, suffered from shock and bruises of the head and right leg when hit by a taxicab operated by Frank E. Juyne, of Clarendon, Va., at Seventeenth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. She was taken to Emergency Hospital in a passing automobile.

While alighting from a street car at Tenth and O street northwest, last night, Charles P. Ruby, 34 years old, of 1715 Fourteenth street southeast, was struck by an automobile said by police to have been driven by William E. Satterfield, 51 years old, of 2245 Fourteenth street northwest. He was taken to Casualty Hospital where his condition was reported to be not serious.

Week-end traffic offenders who faced Judge Gus A. Schuldt in Traffic Court yesterday found the jurist had stricken the word leniency and all its synonyms from his lexicon.

A number of speeders who decided, after deliberation, to "elect to forfeit" collateral posted for appearance are to be picked up on writs of attachment issued by Judge Schuldt. Speeders making their debuts in court were fined anywhere from $10 to $25, while those charged with disregarding traffic signals paid $10 for their first offenses, and the judge declared that if necessary, he will impose fines as high as $25 to end that violation of the regulations.

May Continue Motor Cycle Squad.

There is now a possibility, according to Inspector E. W. Brown, of the Traffic Bureau, that the fifteen motorcycle officers assigned last week from the various precincts for temporary duty with the motoccycle squad will become permanently attached to the bureau as soon as automobiles already purchased for use by the precinct officers can be delivered. The inspector pointed out that under the present arrangements, the temporary assignments involve considerable unnecessary bookkeeping and red tape, as all activities of these men must be credited to their respective precincts.

An amendment to the traffic law to prohibit cruising by taxicabs on F street between Ninth and Fifteenth streets, from 12 a. m. to midnight, is now under consideration by the corporation counsel's office. Inspector Brown added. He declared that although some opposition is anticipated from the independent taxicab operators, he has been assured of cooperation by at least one of the larger companies.

MARLOW SLAYERS' EMPLOYERS SOUGHT

to which he did not belong," Commissioner Whalen said. "Perhaps that is why he was killed."

"Was he murdered for money or for revenge?" the commissioner was asked.

"Well, money usually enters into all these gang killings," he replied. "I can say this, however, Marlow was murdered by paid gangsters and we are doing our best to find the men who hired them. If I should disclose our theory for the motive I would be divulging the direction in which our investigation is taking us at the present time.

Witnesses to Be Grilled Again.

"We are still questioning some of the material witnesses arrested earlier in the week. We think they know more about it than they have said. They will be brought to police headquarters tomorrow."

The witnesses are Johnny Wilson, former world's middleweight champion; Miss Mary Seiden, a night club habitue; Al Seigel, a Broadway dancing instructor; Ignatius Coppa, proprietor of Le Tavernelle, the restaurant on Fifty-second street, where Marlow had his last dinner, and Edward "Boston Louie" Lewis, gambler and race track man. The five sat with Marlow in Coppa's little restaurant when he received the telephone call which seems to have invited him to come out and meet his killers.

Commissioner Whalen disclosed today that Police Sergeant Butts was comparing the bullet found in Marlow's head with the gun found in a trunk in the room of Wilson in the Victoria Hotel last week.

The bullets are also being compared with two found embedded in the floor of an uptown speakeasy Saturday night underneath the head of the murdered proprietor. Grasso used to live near First avenue and Eighty-second street, and there is a possibility that he may have been the killer who murdered the speakeasy proprietor after getting murderously drunk in the resort.

Boxer's Entry Investigated.

Commissioner Whalen said today that among Marlow's effects detectives had found a document indicating that Richardo Bertazzola, the cumbersome heavyweight boxer managed by Marlow, had received permission from the Department of Labor to enter the country to fulfill ring engagements obtained for him by Marlow and Phillip Bucolla, who acted as his managers.

Thomas Stark, a betting commissioner, and Charles Cafarelli, who used to manage the Marlow racing stable in the days before Marlow was so broke that he double-crossed his wife out of the $30 a week he was supposed to pay her, were questioned by detectives today. Inspector Mulrooney established by questioning Stark that Marlow had lost $200 on a horse at Aqueduct the day he was murdered. Shaw is also believed to have been questioned about the $3,500 "Boston Louie" Lewis received via telegraph from Boston on the same day. The police have cast suspicious eyes at this money, which they suspected might have been by way of a time payment for the killing. They abandoned this theory after talking with Lewis and Stark.

PATRICK SEEKS NEW CAR MERGER PLAN

Companies Are Asked to Offer Proposals to Commission in His Letter.

FARE RAISE UNAFFECTED

that he would have no statement to make until after the matter had been considered by his board of directors. When there will be a meeting of the board is not known, Mr. Ham said, adding that several members were out of the city and it probably will not be possible to call a meeting before next week at the earliest.

John H. Hanna, president of the Capital Traction Co., was out of the city yesterday but is to return to his office today. It is probable that Hanna will confer with other officers of his company, but whether there will be a special meeting of the board of directors is not known. The monthly meeting of the board of directors of the company is to be held on July 11, and it was thought probable that the company might take no formal action until that time.

Harley P. Wilson, director of the North American Co. and its representative on the board of directors of the Washington Railway & Electric Co., in which the North American owns controlling interest, was not silent when asked about the commission's request for a new merger agreement.

"Great Caesar's ghost!" Mr. Wilson exclaimed, "what's the use of talking more about the merger unless you can talk to some one with authority to act?

"Congress should empower the Public Utilities Commission or some other body to deal with the question of a merger and finally pass on the question.

Wouldn't Waste Time.

"When," Mr. Wilson continued, taking a slap at Senator Blaine's valuation amendment to the last merger agreement, "you have to talk to some one from 4,000 miles away, then, as far as I'm concerned, I wouldn't waste my time on it."

But Mr. Wilson was jovial in his remarks and hastened to say that he was not forecasting rejection of the commission request by the companies. "The companies always are ready to merge," he said. They probably will give the commission the prompt and courteous answer to which it is entitled.

The matter will not be permitted to drag along indefinitely without action by the companies, however. Although no time limit was set by the commission within which it expected a reply to its letter it was said authoritatively that the companies should be able to make a decision and give the commission a reply in "about ten days." If no answer is received by that time the commission will remind the companies that it wants an answer.

Any merger agreement which the companies might submit, however, is expected to go much farther than was suggested in the commssion's letter. The commission merely asked for an agreement on a merger of the two street car companies, but it did not preclude bus companies or the electric power company from inclusion in the agreement if the car companies want to include them.

Desire Seen as Likely.

That the companies will want to do so was regarded as likely. The Washington Railway & Electric Co. operates more motor buses than any other company in the District, an officer of that company pointed out.

Mr. Ham replied to questions on this phase by quoting the advertisement of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. in The Post yesterday morning in which Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the railroad, declared it was a "transportation" company, in announcing a combination of railroad and airplane service between the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards.

Shortly after the commission's merger letter was made public the Washington Railway & Electric and the Washington Interurban Co., a subsidiary, filed requests for higher car fares. The petition was in the nature of a reply to the action of the utilities commission making the companies parties to the Capital Traction Co. fare boost case.

Return Called Inadequate.

The Washington Railway and Electric Co. declared that the return of 3.94 per cent and 4.09 per cent it made on its valuation as taken from the utilities commission books was "totally inadequate, unreasonable and confiscatory," and said that the valuation on the commission books was the minimum fair value of its properties, because of the heavy increases in prices of material and equipment and construction costs. The subsidiary company said it had had a deficit in the year ending April 30 amounting to $4,164.57.

Bus fares on the Burleith-Trinidad, Rhode Island avenue, Bunker Hill, Massachusetts avenue and Foxall-Potomac Heights lines are asked to be left unchanged.

Letter to Companies.

The letter of the utilities commission follows:

"Apparently a majority of those who have studied the matter agree that the street railway facilities of the growing Capital City should be operated by a single agency. The Public Utilities Commission is strongly of this opinion, and believes that such a merger of the separate street railway companies is desirable for the best interests of the people, and that it should be welcomed by the companies themselves.

"The agreement presented by the street railway companies some little time ago, by its terms lapsed on the first day of June, 1929. The hearings before the congressional committees did, however, greatly clarify the situation.

"In the light of the information brought out at these hearings, it would seem to be possible now to perfect a merger agreement which would be fair to the public, fair to the street railway companies, and generally acceptable.

"The Public Utilities Commission, therefore, wishes to be informed whether or not your company is willing to be a party to such a merger agreement, and to present it to the commission for its action at an early date.

"If you are unwilling, you are requested to state, at some length, your reasons for declining to do so."

gas company, especially in view of the rumors which have been circulated that the local company is another pawn in a nation-wide battle among utilities magnates. The idea that the new owners bought the gas company as an investment has been questioned because of the fact that the 18 per cent dividends paid by the company in the last several years were on the basis of a par value of $20 a share for the stock, for which the new owners paid as high as $125 a share for thousands of shares.

Guests May Drink Legally, Is Ruling

Can Accept Liquor Owner's Invitation to Imbibe, Court Holds.

Asheville, N. C., July 1 (A.P.).—No law is violated by a person consuming liquor at the invitation of the owner, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals ruled today in an opinion handed down in the case of the Zurich General Liability Insurance Co., Ltd., of Switzerland, appealing from a judgment secured against it by Mrs. G. A. Flickinger, of Norfolk, Va.

Judge John J. Parker, of Charlotte, affirmed the decision of the District Court at Norfolk, Va., which held that she could collect on an insurance policy held by her son, S. P. Flickinger, who, it was agreed, died from drinking wood alcohol in gin cocktails served to him by friends. The young man, his fiancee and the wife of his host died from the cocktails.

The insurance company had contended their deaths were due to the negligence of the insured, who had violated the prohibition law.

Physician Is Held After Auto Crash

Man and Woman Hurt in Accident on Highway Near Frederick.

Dr. Isadore Lattman, of 2310 Connecticut avenue northwest, is slated to appear in People's Court at Frederick, Md., Friday morning to answer charges of failing to keep to the right of the center of the road and of passing a vehicle when the road ahead was not clear, as the result of an accident yesterday when an automobile operated by Lattman collided with a machine driven by James M. Wharton, of Richmond, Va., near Frederick Junction.

Dr. Lattman, who is associated with Garfield Hospital, escaped injury, but Mrs. Sonia Sasuley, of 1476 Newton street northwest, who was with him, received lacerations of the forehead. Wharton sustained lacerations of the face, and his brother, Joseph Wharton, was thrown against the broken windshield and severely cut about the head and face.

According to police, Dr. Lattman, driving toward Frederick, attempted to pass another car and rammed head on into the Wharton automobile, and also collided with another car parked beside the road. Mrs. Sasuley and Joseph Wharton were taken to Frederick Hospital. After treatment, Mrs. Sasuley was able to go home, but it is expected that Wharton will be confined for several days. Dr. Lattman was held in $200 bail.

DRAMATISTS ENROLL IN POST-FOX CONTEST

the contest, with the promise that the ten best screen tests made in the contest would be submitted to the Fox Film Corporation for review, with that company having the right to select any of the winners for parts in coming pictures, these amateurs saw a big opportunity. They have taken advantage of it by securing the required number of subscriptions to The Sunday Washington Post and have assured themselves screen tests. With those made, if they are fortunate enough to be among the first ten and the directors of the Fox company learn of their added talent, they believe the problem of entering the movies will be solved.

The contest will close Saturday night at 6 o'clock so that any other amateurs in Washington or vicinity who have not already entered the contest have until that time to obtain ten subscriptions to The Washington Sunday Post for one year. This will entitle each to a screen test, which will be shown at the Fox Theater in the next few weeks, as have two sets of screen tests made of early entrants in the contest.

The ten winners in the competition will receive six-month passes to the Fox Theater and each contestant will receive the strip of film on which his or her test is made so that in the future when home projection of movies becomes the rage they will have this souvenir of their participation in the contest.

All details of the contest and subscription blanks may be obtained from John E. Campbell, director of the contest, on the fourth floor of The Washington Post Building.

TAX SLASH IS TALKED BECAUSE OF SURPLUS

Secretary Mellon has taken a stand for a slash next in the earned income tax, and his views are weighty with the administration.

Hawley believes the corporation levy should receive attention whenever another paring down is undertaken. A reduction in or repeal of the inheritance tax is favored by many of the legislators, but widespread opposition to such a move is certain.

Senator Smoot pointed out that the Treasury believes most of the surplus is attributable to increased personal incomes during the last year resulting from stock market profits. He asserted that those who showed profits in stock market transactions last year are apt to show losses this year, and warned that these losses are deductable for income tax purposes. Therefore, he argued, what was gained by the Government last year may just as easily be lost this year.

STULTZ SECOND SEA FLIER CRASH VICTIM

Brown, Who Crossed Atlantic in 1919, Only Other to Die in Plane Wreck.

TWO OTHERS ARE KILLED

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., July 1 (A.P.).—Bill Stultz was killed in a crash today, the second successful airplane pilot to cross the north Atlantic ever to be killed in a plane smash. Two other men died with him.

The first crossing of the north Atlantic by plane was made just ten years ago by John Alcock and Arthur Whitten Brown, and the same year Alcock was killed when his plane fell.

Since then Lindbergh has crossed that treacherous sea, and Chamberlin and Levine, the Byrd expedition, Brock and Schlee, the Bremen crew, those of the Yellow Bird, and Amelia Earhart, Lou Gordon and Wilmer Stultz.

Stunting With 2 Friends.

All of these have kept on flying and with the exception of Baron von Huenefeld, of the Bremen crew, who died a natural death in Berlin last February, all were alive until today. Then Stultz took up a couple of friends to do a bit of stunting and a few minutes later both Stultz and the friends were dead.

They went up in an open biplane owned by John Hay Whitney, Stultz's employer, and about 300 feet from the ground they went into a tailspin. The two passengers, Pasquales Castellucio and Edward B. Harwood were dead when pulled from the wreckage, and Stultz died as he was being carried into the Nassau County Hospital in Mineola.

Stultz did not regain consciousness after the accident and so he could not tell what had happened, but there were two mute witnesses, a left and a right shoe that did not make a pair, that told the story well enough for those with a bit of imagination.

Barely Missed Housetop.

It was the first time Castellucio and Harwood had ever been up. Stultz took them through a series of loops, and on one of the loops witnesses said he barely missed a rooftop.

After the plane crashed investigators looked in the crumpled forward cockpit and there they were found one right shoe caught in the rudder control on one side and a left shoe similarly caught on the other side. Castellucio and Harwood had sat together in that cockpit and those reconstructing the accident saw evidence in these unmated shoes that they had been terrified by the stunting and had unintentionally jammed their feet in such position that they had taken control of the ship from the pilot.

It was the fourth fatal accident to planes from Roosevelt and Mitchel fields within a week, the other victims being Francis Phillips, son of the late Queens sewer magnate, Jack Ashcraft, endurance flier, and Corporal Elmer Barry, Army student flier.

Pilot of Airplane Down.

Stultz was 29 years old and was married. He first came to wide public notice when he signed up to pilot Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson's plane Dawn across the Atlantic. He had a disagreement with Mrs. Grayson and resigned from the expedition before the plane flew away a year and a half ago never to be seen again.

Next he was employed by Charles A. Levine and flew Levine and Miss Mabel Boll in a nonstop flight to Havana, later being selected to pilot Miss Boll across the ocean in Levine's transatlantic plane Columbia. He switched from Miss Boll's colors to Miss Earhart's, however, and was successful in landing the Earhart plane Friendship in Wales. Since then he had been privately employed.

MELLON VETOES DRY BARBED WIRE PLAN

morning the White House again denied it, and so did Mellon.

Yesterday afternoon Secretary Mellon added another statement to the barrage, one evidetly calculated to shatter the rumor once and for all. Whether it did, however, remains to be seen.

"My attention," Mellon said in a formal statement, "has been called to various statements appearing in the public press to the effect that Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman and Commissioner Doran contemplate resigning at an early date.

"There is no truth in these reports, and there are no facts to justify the circulation of rumors of this character, which do an injustice to two gentlemen who are performing a difficult task with a high degree of ability and devotion, and who have in full measure my confidence and support."

Thus it would seem that Lowman and Doran are to hold on to their jobs after all. Rarely has Secretary Mellon issued a statement so vigorously worded.

Confounding this conclusion, however, was a statement issued earlier by Assistant Secretary Lowman, after he had again denied that he was going to resign.

"I know," said Lowman, in his statement, "that politics inevitably end, sooner or later, in tragedy and defeat. Sporadic fame or national prominence is after all, ashes in a man's mouth."

For a time the newspaper men who received the statement were interpreting it as a virtual admission that he was getting out. But on top of it was his reiteration that he was not getting out. Why, then, it was asked, did he issue such a cryptic statement?

When Lowman was asked to amplify the statement, he would only say that he had borrowed it from a prominent character in American history. The quotation of political disillusionment was attributed by some to Henry Clay.

As for the original report about Lowman's being asked to resign by President Hoover, the Treasury Department explained that it may have been caused by a reporter seeing a form calling for the resignation of a minor prohibition official and jumping at the conclusion that it involved the resignation of Lowman himself.

However, the United Press, which sent out the story, declared yesterday that the report on Lowman's resignation "was obtained in official circles in circumstances which left no doubt of its authenticity, and not by an unauthorized perusal of documents bearing on the case."

Representative Clancy, of Michigan, who took a leading part in the prohibition debate in the House just prior to adjournment, in a statement issued yesterday, defended Doran. Referring to statements made by him at that time that dry agents had told him Doran threatened to cut off their heads if they did not obtain results in the prohibition drive in that section, he said: "I am now convinced that he meant his own head and the heads of other high officials in Washington, as well as elsewhere, would be cut off politically if enforcement did not change for the better."

The representative expressed the opinion that Doran was not making a threat, and stated that he did not believe Doran "is a prohibition autocrat grafted upon the Government service by the Antisaloon League." He expressed regret that in quoting Detroit dry agents in his House speech he had misinterpreted the dry commissioner's remarks.

Successful Lumber Merchant Collapses Suddenly After Brief Illness.

FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY

William Thompson Galliher, prominent banker, lumber merchant and one of Washington's best known residents for many years, died suddenly at 8:40 o'clock Sunday night at his home in the Kenesaw Apartments, Sixteenth and Irving streets northwest.

Death was attributed to heart disease, following acute indigestion, suffered a week ago while attending the District of Columbia Bankers' Association convention at Montauk, Long Island. Although remaining indisposed in bed for several days, he had recovered sufficiently to sit in a chair, where he collapsed while talking with Charles H. Galliher, a son, and died before medical aid could be summoned.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. F. C. Reynolds, followed by private interment in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Survived By Large Family.

Besides his son, Charles, he is survived by his widow, the former Miss A. Laura McIntire, of Washington, whom he married October 2, 1877; three other sons, William O. and Herbert P. Galliher, of Washington, and Merrill P. Galliher, of Asheville, N. C.; five daughters, Mrs. L. Perry West, Mrs. Watts T. Estabrook and Mrs. John P. Clifford, of this city; Mrs. Albert W. Ayer, of Elizabeth, N. J., and Mrs. Joseph Seibert, of Williamsport, Pa., and a brother, Charles E. Galliher, with whom he was associated in the lumber business.

Born at Port Deposit, Cecil County, Md., in 1856, the son of Joseph Wesley and Agnes (Thompson) Galliher, he died nine days before he would have celebrated his seventy-third birthday. He received a public school education through the eighth grade and entered the lumber business, in which he became eminently successful.

Prominent in Business Circles.

At the organization of the American National Bank of Washington, in 1903, he became a director and was appointed a vice president of that institution in 1908, serving for two years, and becoming president in 1910. He served two years in that office and became chairman of the board of directors of the Federal-American National Bank at the time of the merger of these two important concerns in November, 1922, holding that office at his death.

Filling the presidency of W. T. Galliher & Bro., Inc., the lumber firm, since its establishment in 1889, he also officiated as president of the Home Building Association; vice president of the National Union Fire Insurance Co., and treasurer of the Rosslyn Steel & Cement Co. He was also a director of the Washington Title Co., the Washington Railway & Electric Co. and the Washington Hotel Co.

Besides being president of the Lumber Exchange of the District of Columbia from 1902 until 1912 and of the Washington Board of Trade, he was also a former president of the District of Columbia Bankers Association and a member of the Washington Chamber of Commerce.

Was Active in Civic Affairs.

Active in public life, he was chairman of the committee for the Coolidge-Dawes inauguration in 1925 and served as brigade quartermaster of the District National Guard, with the rank of major. In politics, he was a Republican and was chairman of the Republican committee of the District from 1916 until 1924 and a delegate to the Republican national committee at Cleveland in 1924.

Always interested in the field of education and social service, he gave of his time as a director of American University and the Swartzel Home for Children and was a member of the Board of Charities of the District of Columbia, in charge of penal and correctional institutions.

Of the Methodist religious denomination, he worked for his faith as trustee and treasurer of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Church. A thirty-third degree Mason, he was a past grand commander of the Knights Templar of the District and was also a member of the Odd Fellows order, a past chief patriarch of Mt. Nebo Encampment and a past department commander of the Patriarchs Militant of the District. He was a member of the University Club.

$5,000 Barn Burns; Farmers Busy in Field

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., July 1.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the large barn on the John Ralston farm 12 miles west of Harrisonburg, today while the farmers were busy on the field harvesting wheat. The loss is placed at $5,000, partially covered by insurance.

Reports attributed the blaze to spontaneous combustion from the newly made hay which had been hauled into the barn recently. The barn destroyed was erected four years ago to replace a previous structure, which was struck by lightning and burned.

Shenandoah Is Surveyed For Site of Rayon Plant

Special to The Washington Post.

HENRY BAKER FOUND DEAD IN BATHROOM

Cousin of Former Secretary of War Is Missing for Two Days.

VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE

The victim of heart disease that probably caused his death Saturday afternoon, the body of Henry A. Baker, attorney and first cousin of Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War during the Wilson administration, was found in the bathroom of his apartment at 2139 Wyoming avenue northwest early last night.

Baker was alone in the apartment. His mother, Mrs. Alice Cook Baker, his sister and brother-in-law, Dr. Eugene B. Whitmore, who occupied the apartment with him, were visiting in Philadelphia.

Baker was temporarily employed at the International Exchange Bank, Inc., Fifth and H streets northwest. When he did not report for work as usual yesterday morning, officials of the bank tried to reach him at the apartment, but received no answer to telephone calls.

Discovered By Maid.

His brother, W. Lester Baker, who lives at the Wardman Park Hotel, was told of the absence of his brother. He got in touch with the maid who had the only other keys and told her to go to the apartment and see if Baker was there.

She reached the apartment early last night and found the body lying on the floor in the bathroom.

Baker had been a sufferer from high blood pressure for years, his blood having registered as high as 220 degrees. It is believed that his heart failed under the influence of such a spell.

He was last seen Saturday afternoon when the janitor of the apartment house took him up in the elevator to the fourth floor to his apartment.

Father Died Recently.

The family had but recently suffered the shock of their father's death, Henry S. Baker, formerly of the District tax assessor's office.

Baker had not been well for years. He practiced law here until three years ago when he went to Florida for his health and opened practice at Palatka. He returned to Washington July 1, a year ago, and had intended resuming practice as soon as his health permitted.

His mother, Mrs. Whitmore, and another sister, Mrs. Percy T. Burness, of Germantown, Pa., and his brother survive. Baker had never married.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed last night, but it was decided that the body will be taken to the family plot at Shepardstown, W. Va., for interment.

ARLINGTON REFUSES GAS STATION PERMIT

Zoning Commissioner to Take Woman's Petition Under Consideration.

CARNIVAL OPENS TONIGHT

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The Arlington County Zoning Commission meeting last night at the courthouse disapproved the application of Gordon Marcey for a permit to erect and maintain a gasoline filling station along the Lee Highway at Disher street. The commission took the view that the section in which the station would be located was entirely residential.

The application of Miss Lillian Eckert for a gasoline filling station at the intersection of Lacy street and the Glebe road was held up for further consideration. In the meantime the county engineer, C. L. Kinnier, was instructed to have Miss Eckert obtain a petition signed by the residents along Lacy street approving the application.

The commission continued its study of the maps which have been prepared by the county engineer's office showing the location of all present buildings. The study is being made to determine which sections shall be zoned residential and which commercial.

The Arlington County Bar Association held its monthly luncheon meeting yesterday in the Priscilla rooms in the Boulevard Bakery at Clarendon with Charles T. Jesse presiding.

The special committee appointed some time ago, of which Edgar W. Pumphrey is the chairman, to consider the establishment of a law library was instructed to make its report at the August meeting.

The association is of the opinion that the time is very opportune to take up the question of the establishment of a library with the county authorities and ask that space be arranged in the courthouse, now that an addition has been erected for the county clerk's office.

It was pointed out that when there were enough books obtained to start a library, the law provides that space shall be provided in the county courthouse for them. The association is prepared to open its library with more than $100 worth of law books.

The secretary was instructed to advise the committee on pleading, of which Judge Harry R. Thomas is the chairman, that the association is anxious to have a report at the August meeting.

Owing to the storm of last night, the Arlington Post No. 139, American Legion, will open its fourth annual carnival tonight in the Clarendon Park, at Taylor and Virginia avenues.

The three contestants, Miss Virginia McDonnell and Miss Josephine Sterling, of Clarendon, and Miss Irene Sheehan, of Fort Myer Heights, in the popularity contest for "Miss Arlington," to represent Arlington County at the annual state convention to be held at Petersburg, Va., early in August will be in attendance. The winner, who will be judged by the highest number of votes, will in addition be given a silver loving cup presented by the Arlington County Monarch Club.

The committee announces that there will be special attraction each night and that dancing will be one of the features. The carnival will continue through the week.

More than 20 booths have been stationed about the grounds.

With the remodeling of the rooms formerly occupied by the county clerk on the first floor of the court house completed, work of moving the health and water departments from the third floor will get under way today. The County Engineer, C. L. Kinnier, will also move his office to the first floor.

The newly elected officers of Arlington Lodge No. 193, I. O. O. F., will be installed at the meeting to be held in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon tonight by District Deputy Grand Master A. D. Yates, assisted by his staff.

Those who are to be installed are: George H. McCrillis, noble grand; Norbert Melnick, vice grand, and W. B. Huffman, treasurer.

The case of Morris A. Bealle against Harry N. Douthitt will come up today in the Arlington County Circuit Court before Judge William P. Woolls, acting circuit judge, at the request of Judge Howard W. Smith.

Bealle, who is suing for an alleged debt of $966, will be represented by Attorney W. Thomas French, while State Senator Frank L. Ball will appear for Douthitt.

Bids for the widening of the Lee highway from the People's State Bank in Cherrydale to a point opposite the John M. Langston Schoolhouse in Halls Hill will be opened by the State Highway Department in Richmond Tuesday, July 16, at 10 o'clock.

The width of the highway will be 28 feet, similar to the improvement finished last summer from Rosslyn to the People's State Bank in Cherrydale.

The county board of supervisors of Fairfax County will meet at the courthouse tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The claims against the county for damages to sheep and fowls killed by dogs will be settled at this meeting.

Election of officers will be the principal business to come before the meeting of Kappa Sigma Pi to be held tomorrow night in the Clarendon Presbyterian Church at 8 o'clock.

Suit for a divorce was filed in the county clerk's office yesterday by Vernon Van Dee Cook Johnson against Mamie Alice Howard Johnson.

Owing to Thursday being a legal holiday, the monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the directers' rooms in the Rucker Building at Clarendon.

With the joint meeting which the presidents of the various civic organizations and the board of directors arranged for on the night of July 9 at the Washington Golf and Country Club, the board will, at its meeting tomorrow, consider the five-year building program. The subject also will be the principal topic at the dinner.

Pleading not guilty to a charge of illegal possession, Willie Alma Miles was held for the action of the grand jury by Police Judge Harry R. Thomas yesterday. Bond was fixed at $500.

Raymond A. Winter who waived hearing on a similar charge, was likewise held for the action of the grand jury. Bond in his case was fixed at $500.

The newly elected officers of the Cherrydale Volunteer Fire Department were installed into office last night.

There will be a special meting of the home demonstration agent's advisory council today at the home of Mrs. H. N. Clarke in Fairfax. The group will be entertained by a buffet luncheon preceeding the meeting by Miss Mary Lippard.

A delegate to the annual meeting of the Virginia Homemakers Association at Blacksburg, Va., in August, will be chosen at this meeting.

UNUSUAL PLATFORM ADOPTED BY A. A. A.

Appointment of Committee to Study Taxes Subject of One Resolution.

MORE FEDERAL AID ASKED

Buffalo, N. Y., July 1 (A.P.).—At the conclusion of its afternon session today the twenty-seventh annual convention of the American Automobile Association had adopted what the delegates regarded as the strongest platform of motoring policies ever formulated by that body.

One resolution called for the appointment of a national committee to study the question of motor vehicle taxation, with particular reference to the tendency to increase the gasoline tax and the growing practice whereby motor vehicle taxes are diverted to other than road purposes.

Other matters included in the platform were traffic safety, more Federal appropriations for highways, more effective State and municipal regulations of the sale of gasoline and oil, a concerted national effort to maintain the beauty of the highways and prevent the encroachment of unsightly advertising, and a demand that innocent users of highways must be protected.

Federal Aid Increase Urged.

The convention declared itself in favor of an immediate increase in Federal aid appropriations from $75,000,000 a year to $125,000,000 a year; also declared that the Federal Government should assume the obligation for the building of highways through its own land in the West and the Far West, and asked that appropriations for forest roads be increased from $7,500,000 to $12,500,000.

The resolution on gas and oil cited the fact that short measure sales now levy an annual toll of $20,000,000 on the motorists and urged new weights and measures laws.

Schools' Aid Is Asked.

Citing that motor vehicle fatalities increased 29 per cent for the entire country in the period from 1924 to 1928, the association pointed out that education is one of the most effective measures to combat highway accidents and urged the incorporation of safety education in the curriculum of all public and private schools, and the establishment of schoolboy patrols in all cities, towns and villages.

Father Coolahan has been pastor of the church for seventeen years. He has been assigned to a larger church at Frederick, Md., the Church of St. John the Evangelist.

Music was furnished by the church choir, with a vocal solo by Mrs. Peter Wagner and a violin solo by Samuel Wardell. Among the speakers were Judge Robert B. Peter, sr., of the Rockville Circuit Court; Edward Brand, Joseph Clagett, Mrs. Helen Matthews, George Hunter and George Bonifant. Robert L. Tolson, chairman of the committee in charge, presented the clock, which matches a suite of furniture given the priest nearly two years ago on the occasion of his twenty-fifth anniversary.

NATION'S EDUCATORS ADOPT ETHICS CODE

New Clauses Included in Draft Approved After 5 Years of Research.

2 NAMED FOR PRESIDENCY

Atlanta, Ga., July 1 (A.P.).—A daughter of pioneer parents, who was reared in a settler's shanty on the Nebraska plains, or a woman long identified with education in Minnesota, will be the next president of the National Education Association. The woman, who was reared on the plains and advanced to a place of leadership in Nebraska schools, is Miss Ruth Fyrtle, principal of Bancroft School, Lincoln, Nebr. The other is Miss Effie MacGregor, principal of the John Burroughs School, Minneapolis, Minn. They were nominated at the annual convention of the association here today. Elections will be held Wednesday.

Another feature of today's session was the unanimous adoption by the convention of a general code of ethics, which has been in preparation by a special committee for five years. The code was drafted after long study and research and embodies many clauses never before explicitly stated in any similar code.

Among its provisions are:

"The schoolroom is not the proper theater for religious, political or personal propaganda.

"The teacher should not permit his educational work to be used for partisan policies, personal gain or selfish end.

"A teacher should not tutor pupils in his classes for pay.

"The teacher should insist upon a salary scale suitable to his place in society.

"The teacher should not act as agent or accept royalty, a commission or other rewards for books or supplies in the selection of which he can exercise an influence."

Dean Walter Williams, founder and head of the University of Missouri School of Journalism and president emeritus of the World Press Congress, addressed the educators with the title of his speech, "A Reporter Looks at a New World."

would go to Paintsville as soon as she was officially notified of the paroling of Carl Newton Mahan to the bureau.

A special meeting of the board probably will be held in Frankfort next week to pass on the case, she said.

"The board will do the most humane thing possible," she said, but declined to speculate on what action might be taken.

The bureau, it was said by persons acquainted with its activities since it was created in 1928, generally leaves its wards with their parents, exercising supervision over them in an advisory capacity.

SERVING WASHINGTON FOR OVER THREE-QUARTERS OF A CENTURY

Shopping with Bab on Connecticut Avenue

DEAREST GENEVIEVE:

Although you are probably all excited about going away for the Fourth of July and the ensuing week-end, you perhaps will have time to read the odds and ends of this and that which I have to tell you about today.

What with saying good-by to friends who are sailing for the other side, and welcoming arriving visitors from distant ports, life is surely one round of pleasure in Washington at this season.

Just glance through the nice news I have for you today and let me know if the information is useful to you.

The Opening of Dulin & Martin's

—handsome new building in Connecticut Avenue is the biggest excitement in town this week. As if by magic the windows blossomed out overnight with all the sparkling glass and shining silver and exquisite colorful furniture which you knew would be exhibited, once the store was open.

Just offhand, I can think of no other store in the country, that is in cities with which I am familiar, which can approach this for beauty and extensive displays.

To tell you about it, it is difficult to know where to begin. When I went in early yesterday morning there were scores of other visitors waiting for the doors to open. Other business establishments and well-wishing patrons had sent floral offerings until the place looked like a wedding. Had you seen the shop last Friday, for instance, you could not have dreamed that every floor could be in place by Monday morning. But there it was!

Many Surprises Await You

—all over the store. You will see new departments for such things as jewelry, pearls, compacts and other trinkets, watches and Florentine leather. The entire second floor given over to fine furniture will give you a great thrill! Each window represents a separate room, and truly you have never seen lovelier furniture! Early American pieces, reproductions of French and Italian masterpieces; countless odd tables and stools and occasional chairs.

The equipment for interior decorating in Dulin & Martin's is superior in every way. This department which has been steadily growing for a year or two, will now be one of the chief features of the service this establishment is ready to give.

You will find furniture for every room in the house, for the porch and garden in perfectly fascinating variety. On the mezzanine balcony, which is most attractively done with tiled floor and a bronze railing, are gay chintz furnishings and sturdy rustic sets. This is a temporary display which will soon give way to a special Gift Shoppe.

An Entire Floor Of Exquisite China

—presents one of the most gorgeous exhibits in the shop. The facilities for showing the collection seem especially well planned. When you go in you will notice how one roomy window alcove is devoted to service plates, another to rare sets and so on.

Carved and etched crystal on the main floor, and delicate stem-ware in such entrancing colors, give a lovely effect as you enter the store. On this floor with its broad aisles and clear light streaming in at the great windows, are endless exhibits of pottery and silver, lamps and housewares.

The housewares are shown in a setting of pale green. Knowing as you do the reputation this store has had for many years for every known necessity in household equipment, you will perhaps not be surprised to see how many of every sort of thing you will have to choose from. Bathroom accessories are near this department, too, and are in sets of such fashionable shades you will be unable to resist them.

Let nothing interfere with your visiting Dulin & Martin's today! You will have the best time you have enjoyed in any shopping tour. In fact, you will scarcely be able to believe that this very metropolitan store is really right here in Washington.

A Small Party Is Forming

—for a trip to Europe starting July 25. The party will sail on the Isle de France and will visit England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Germany and Belgium. They will arrive in Germany in time for the music festivals, for which they will have reservations.

Miss Elizabeth Persons, who manages the offices of C. C. Drake & Co. in Washington at the Willard Hotel, as well as in Baltimore and Philadelphia, has had a remarkable experience in successfully conducting tours over Europe. To take a trip which she plans is indeed a privilege. Everything is done so beautifully, and you are relieved of every care and responsibility incident to travel. All you have to do is enjoy yourself. You save money going that way, too. Step in the Willard and ask for Miss Moorehead, of the C. C. Drake Travel Bureau. She will give you all information you need.

We Lunched at Tally-Ho Tavern

—underneath the new gayly striped awning which shades the loggia. Since this attractive restaurant has been done over following the fire, it is so fresh and lovely, it is a joy to go there.

Despite the many showers of the past week there have been many evenings when it was pleasant to dine in the garden. In case you do not know it, you may be interested to know that this is one of the oldest gardens in town, and therefore charming with old memories.

Luncheon, tea and dinner are served every day. The menus are delicious.

Fashions in Photographs Change With Clothes

—and so perhaps it is not surprising that we should see in Underwood & Underwood's windows this week a wonderful display of Sun-Tan Prints. You will think these are the loveliest pictures you have ever seen. I went in the studio to find out how they were made, and learned that the subjects of the photographs really were tanned, and so made a rather dark picture. When the prints were made on a softly tinted paper the effect which you see was the result.

If I am not mistaken, these are original with Underwood & Underwood. Many handsome innovations in photography may be traced to this famous studio. This happens to be their newest.

The discount which has been in effect for some time will continue until July 15. Take advantage of it if you possibly can, for the saving is so great it seems too bad for you not to have the priviledge of ordering pictures at such a saving.

A few frames remain at 50 per cent discount. These are mostly painted carved wood, and they good looking.

Speedboats At Hains' Point

—are an innovation, and what a hit they have made! Not every one can own a boat, but every one loves to have a swift ride, cutting through the cool waters of the Potomac River. Since the Potomac Flying Service, which owns and operates Hoover Field, decided to add Gar Wood speedboats to their equipment, the dock at Hains' Point has been the most popular place around Washington.

For $1 you may have a fast ride which takes you through a lot of pretty scenery in fifteen or twenty minutes. There are boats to be chartered, too, by complete parties who want to go up the river or down the river for a picnic. In the case of a 'Dutch treat" party, this gives every one a good time at a small cost. You can find out details of this by calling up the Potomac Flying Service or motoring out to Hains' Point, where the men in charge will be glad to tell you anything you want to know.

There is simply nothing like it for a hot day, and the next time you feel bored or depressed, just take a speedboat ride for a quick, economical remedy.

Sunday Night On The Powhatan Roof

—there were just as many people dining as on week-nights. Johnny Slaughter and His Orchestra have made a great hit this summer, as they always do. The roof is high, cool and breezy, and the food perfectly delicious. With a big roomy space for dancing, what more could you ask for! This is apparently the favorite dining place for all fastidious Washington. You will agree that you see dining and dancing on the Powhatan Roof more people you know (or would like to know) than almost any other spot in town.

Call up and make your reservations, and don't miss spending the next hot evening in this delightful fashion.

Swimming Parties At Plage Deauville

—at Wardman Park are such fun! In the afternoon the place is packed with gay parties having tea after their swim, enjoying the music and dancing on the pavilion. This is not an expensive diversion. You may give a party there, have a better time and spend less money than in almost any way you can think of.

It is great fun to have dinner by the pool. Meyer Davis' Chantecler Orchestra supplies the music, and naturally enough you see all the devotees of Club Chantecler night after night and day after day at Plage Deauville.

Elsie Pierce Is Writing Regularly

—for several New York magazines. I picked up a recent copy of "Beauty Culture" the other day, and there was the first of a series of articles which she is to write for this publication, with a full-page portrait of herself. Then in the little leaflet called "New York Amusements," Elsie Pierce's Beauty Chat" is running regularly. Besides these activities she is the beauty expert for three metropolitan radio stations, WOR, WGBS and WYNC, from which stations she talks every day.

Elsie Pierce Toilet Preparations may be bought at Woodward & Lothrop's. Ask for Elie Pierce Cleansing Cream, Preserving Cream and Neroli Skin Tonic.

Not Only Those In the Neighbor hood

—enjoy the Cavalier Cafe, 3500 14th St. People from all over town like to stop in at this delightfully cool restaurant. It boasts one of the pleasantest dining rooms in the city. This attractive restaurant is daily adding to its patronage families and individuals who like good food, and like it in comfort.

The prices are so moderate that this fact, coupled with the joy of dining in a place which fills every other requirement, brings people back even though they live in an entirely different neighborhood.

Breakfast and luncheon are served here, too. You will like the Cavalier.

Affectionately,

Bab

DOCTRINE OF PARITY.

A welcome ray of light has penetrated the dense fog of secrecy that has enveloped advance negotiations between Premier MacDonald and Ambassador Dawes with respect to a possible conference on reduction of naval armaments. It came yesterday in a brief statement that Secretary Stimson authorized for publication. It may have been prompted by press comment from London critical of President Hoover's proposed method of measuring relative naval strength as a preliminary to more general discussion of peace problems, but in any case it will have a wholesome, reassuring effect. The statement follows:

> The doctrine of parity in my opinion is of very great importance as a means of determining not how two great nations are to shoot at each other, but as a means of helping them agree not to shoot at each other.
> The first step which people take when they are going to shoot at each other is to try to outbuild each other in the shape of navies. The minute they agree not to outbuild each other, they are taking one of the longest steps possible toward not having a war. That is why we are laying stress on the doctrine of parity.

If President Hoover stands by the one-word slogan, "Parity," meaning parity with Great Britain, Americans need have little concern that dangers to national defense lurk in any naval reductions conference. An iron-clad guarantee to the American people that actual, above-board parity in naval strength will be insisted upon as an absolute and irrevocable condition to the next naval reductions agreement, will put the whole arms limitation problem in a totally different light.

But parity means parity that American naval experts will recognize and that the American people can understand. It does not mean the sort of parity that came forth from the Washington Conference of 1921-22 after Mr. Balfour had agreed on behalf of Great Britain to accept parity in principle.

When Mr. Hughes at the first session of the Washington Conference, on November 12, 1921, said that competition in armament must stop, there was applause. When he said that naval competition must be abandoned, there was greater applause. When he added that America by way of sacrifice and example proposed to scrap an aggregate of 845,740 tons of fighting ships, including the most modern ships afloat, there was prolonged applause.

This speech cost America more than $330,000,000 and consigned to the bottom of the sea America's potential naval supremacy. Great Britain and Japan sank blueprints and old ships to match the American sacrifice while expressing deep regret at being unable to be as self-sacrificing and magnanimous as America. That was parity of the Washington Conference brand.

Now it is Great Britain's turn to be magnanimous. Britain's cruiser strength has so far surpassed America's that parity can only be obtained by the scrapping of British ships to a reasonable level or the building of American ships. The simple way to obtain parity and keep within the spirit of the naval reductions program is for Great Britain to agree to scrap. Otherwise the naval reductions plan is bound to become what Mr. Coolidge aptly called a plan to increase naval armaments.

Naturally it is important that Mr. Hoover know in advance whether the British propose to accept the doctrine of parity and how they propose to make the doctrine effective. Whether an American yardstick is used for measuring relative British and American naval strength in order to insure parity, or whether some other accepted yardstick is used may not be particularly important. Doubtless the proposed American yardstick would be satisfactory enough if the British really want to bring about genuine parity. If the British do not wish to insure parity no yardstick will be of much use.

The reference to parity lets in a ray of light at last. By all means let parity be guaranteed at the very inception of any naval reductions negotiations.

CHAMPION BOBBY JONES.

In winning the national open golf championship at Winged Foot by the decisive margin of 23 strokes, Bobby Jones played the flawless golf for which he is famous. The fact that Al Espinosa, the runner up, "cracked" in the play-off rounds last Sunday, does not detract from the glory of the Jones victory. The young man from Atlanta, who has won nine open championships in the last seven years, finished with a brilliant 72 and 69. In view of the difficult nature of the Winged Foot course, such scores, made under the emotional stress of championship play, may be looked upon as remarkable.

Bobby Jones is the greatest of all golfers. He has yet to equal the record for total number of championships annexed, but he is only 27 years old and he has years of championship play ahead. No one doubts that he will win many more championships, for his game seems never to backslide in any of the departments. He is master of woods, irons and putter. He is equally skilled from the tee, through the fairways and on the green. He matches his mastery of clubs with an ideal golfing temperament and crafty strategy.

Bobby Jones is king of the golfers. His victory at Winged Foot was most popular.

STATE OF THE TREASURY.

Secretary Mellon's report on the financial condition of the Government at the close of the fiscal year is highly gratifying, especially in view of the fact that a deficit of $94,000,000 was anticipated at the close of the Coolidge administration. Expenses of the Government showed an average increase of more than $500,000 per day, and budget estimates were exceeded by $54,000,000 in the fiscal year. But receipts mounted to a figure $202,000,000 beyond the budget estimates, leaving a surplus of $185,000,000. The record is indicative of widespread prosperity in the United States.

A Treasury surplus always leads to demands for reduced taxation. A demand of this kind was anticipated by the administration and it has been announced that the condition of the Federal Treasury does not warrant further tax reductions at this time. Actually, the Government will do well if it keeps within its revenue in view of the prospective heavy expenditures for farm relief, naval construction, flood control, and similar projects. The surplus will not be carried over to meet expenditures of the coming year, as many suppose. Already $124,000,000 has been applied to public debt obligations and the balance will be applied to debt retirement early in the fiscal year 1930.

Total ordinary receipts for the year amounted to $4,033,000,000, which is $9,000,000 less than the receipts of 1928. On the other hand, there was a $204,000,000 increase in expenditures. The national debt was reduced by $673,000,000 last year and, for the first time since the war, is below $17,000,000,000. However, this is $234,000,000 less than was pared from the public debt in 1928. Since the debt reached its wartime peak, almost $8,575,000,000 has been paid off. It is highly important that the Government continue to reduce this liability.

A surplus of $185,000,000 sounds large to the taxpayer, but it is only a small fraction of the annual expenses of the Government. It is not too large a margin of receipts over expenditures. The country was saved from a deficit only by unusual increases in receipts from the individual income tax, record-breaking receipts from the tobacco tax and the large yield of the stamp tax. The country is in a prosperous condition and tax receipts possibly may increase during the next fiscal year, but the possibility is by no means a certainty.

President Hoover has announced his intention of holding the budget for 1931 to a total not greater than that of the last Coolidge budget, which goes into operation this month. The many new items of expense will make such economy most difficult. But if the President succeeds and Federal receipts continue to increase during the next year, there is a bare possibility that further tax reduction can be arranged without danger of a deficit.

THE LAW IN ACTION.

One aspect of law enforcement that is entirely neglected by a large portion of those dealing with the problem was brought to the attention of the Maryland State Bar Association by Dr. W. W. Cook, director of the Institute for the Study of Law at Johns Hopkins University, at the convention of lawyers at Atlantic City last week. While Federal, State and local commissions are seeking methods of more efficiently applying the law to society, Dr. Cook and his staff are inquiring into the efficacy of the law itself. This is the purpose for which the institute was created.

Dr. Cook is turning the searchlight of science upon the legal structure existing in this country. He states the case as follows:

> If we assume—as I think we must—that human law is a device which society uses to regulate human conduct, to promote those types of conduct deemed desirable and to prevent those deemed undesirable, it would seem well worth our while to make an effort to find out how much of our legal system really does accomplish the purpose for which it is supposed to exist.

The institute is not concerned with application of the law to the whole population. It purposes only to watch the law in action, as the scientist turns his microscope on bacteria or his telescope toward the stars. Where the law is failing to accomplish that for which it was established, efforts will be made to discover the reasons for failure and possible remedies.

Introduction of the scientific method into the field of law has been long delayed. In practically every inquiry into law enforcement problems the existing system of criminal justice has been taken for granted. Instead of searching out fundamental defects in the system, reformers have been content to try to make it work more effectively. Since the existing system of jurisprudence has grown up with this civilization it is possibly the best practical plan for maintenance of public order. Nevertheless it is a wholesome practice to submit it to scientific observation in just the same way that other branches of learning have been tested. Judging from the achievements of science in other fields, there is much that can be learned from such an elemental research into criminal justice.

DO MOVIES FOSTER CRIME?

It is not uncommon to hear the movies charged with fostering crime. Now that a national commission is at work on the law enforcement problem every agency that has been suspected of promoting criminal tendencies is under scrutiny. The motion picture industry is no exception. Only this week a national weekly magazine complained that "the motion picture industry is concerned not at all about standards either of taste or morals." "The only thing the industry is interested in cleaning up," the account read, "is box-office revenue by playing to the tabloid mind."

The motion picture industry has taken sufficient notice of this kind of criticism to defend itself. In a paper read before the International Association of Policewomen at San Francisco last week, Col. Jason S. Joy, representative of Will H. Hays, pictured the industry as "one of the greatest deterrents of crime in the United States." He presented an array of facts to bolster up this statement. A study of 620 feature pictures produced in America during 1928, he said, shows that 33.7 per cent contained no villain and no crime; in 17.5 per cent the villain was killed; in 33.8 per cent he was imprisoned; in 4.4 per cent, the villain was reformed, and in the remainder of the pictures he was punished by the hero. He points out also that in the 38 underworld pictures produced last year the villain was killed in 14 instances, arrested in 19 cases and reformed in five. "Such is the iron-clad moral of the movies," Col. Joy said, "that not once does the guilty escape punishment."

These figures call attention to the fact that justice in the movies is far ahead of justice in actual life. Col. Joy made a point of the failure of the courts to convict with anything like the regularity implied on the screen. He quoted an estimate that a murderer in the United States has twelve chances to one of escaping conviction and 132 chances to 1 of escaping execution, while the movies give the impression that every crook "gets what is coming to him." According to this view the charge against the motion picture industry would have to be reversed. Their only fault would be the dissemination of propaganda for law enforcement.

It is quite apparent, however, that the mere fact that a villain is punished does not make certain that a movie will have a wholesome impression on those who see it. It is quite possible for the vilest picture to include the destruction of the villain. On the other hand a plot which has no element of crime may be so false in its representation of conditions as to be considered, at least from the literary point of view, positively immoral. It is difficult to see what good purpose can be achieved by the willful distortion of life either on the screen or in print. Suppose that the impressionable generation did take seriously all the situations presented on the modern screen. The logical conclusion would be that every crook met his just doom, or else was reformed. What would be the purpose, in such a civilization, of taking a single step toward improved conditions. Misrepresentation of the facts of life is not a sound basis for teaching observance of law. If the motion picture industry wishes to convince the public that it has been purged of every suggestion of crime to young minds, it will have to do more than show that its villains are inevitably punished.

THE NICARAGUAN CANAL

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

For 90 years the United States has entertained various plans for building a canal across Nicaragua. The first definite step toward its construction will be taken in September, when Army and civilian engineers, appointed by President Hoover, start to survey the route.

This step is imperative for two reasons. One is, that traffic through the Panama Canal is rapidly approaching the limit of that waterway's capacity. The limit may not be reached within twenty years, as some experts believe, but it is not much more remote. Besides meeting this economic necessity, the Nicaraguan route, although three times as long as the Panama Canal, would save 800 miles for shipping in northern latitudes.

The second reason concerns national defense. The United States now relies solely upon the Panama Canal for mobilizing its fleets either in the Atlantic or the Pacific in time of war. Destruction of this waterway by an enemy would be disastrous. Another canal is a strategic necessity.

The Nicaraguan route has attracted attention almost since the time Christopher Columbus sailed within sight of the eastern terminus while seeking a passageway to the Pacific. One of his successors, De Avila, discovered Lake Nicaragua which covers a large part of the isthmus. Spain surveyed the route in 1781. Lord Nelson saw in his day its possibilities and sought to possess it for England.

The United States became interested in 1838, when John Bailey, an American engineer, surveyed the route. During the California gold rush of 1849 Cornelius Vanderbilt seriously considered building the canal. In 1884 this country and Nicaragua negotiated a treaty for its joint construction, but the Senate failed to ratify the pact.

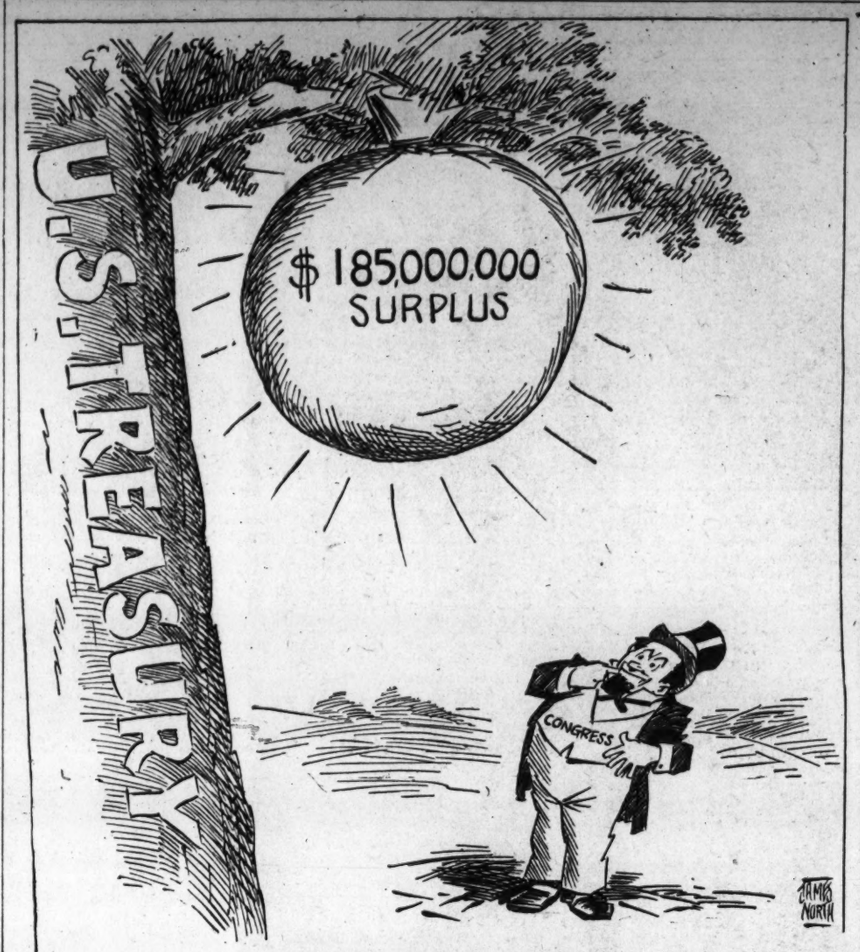
Fears that another nation might seize the Nicaraguan route led the United States in 1916, through the Bryan-Chamorro Treaty and a payment of $3,000,000, to acquire the canal rights. Six years ago renewed interest led to a partial survey, but the engineers' estimate that the canal would cost $1,000,000,000 discouraged President Harding. Little more was done officially about the project until near the close of the Coolidge administration.

But persistent advocacy of the Nicaraguan Canal, together with growing convictions of its necessity, led Congress last winter to adopt the Edge resolution authorizing the new survey. This will revise and bring up to date the obsolete data obtained 30 years ago.

The engineers will begin their work at Greytown, on the Caribbean, proceed by boats up the San Juan River to Lake Nicaragua and cross this deep body of water for 70 miles. Thence they will descend the Cordillera Mountains, where the chief difficulties in constructing the canal are expected to be encountered, to the Pacific Coast at Brito. This is the proposed canal route.

The survey may show that estimated cost of $1,000,000,000 is excessive. But whatever the cost, the canal must eventually be built. Economic necessity and factors of national defense demand it. Nicaragua asks it. Indeed, our relations with this Central American country have for years been linked with this project.

In his conference last December with the presidents of Costa Rica and Nicaragua, President Hoover advocated the construction of the canal. In a few weeks he will have the satisfaction of directing the first preliminary step toward this goal. When the work on the canal will be started is uncertain. But as it is an approaching necessity and its construction will take at least ten years, the obtaining of accurate data, which the survey will accomplish, is of timely importance.



It Won't Be Long Now.

Ohio State Journal: We don't know whether its sheer intuition or the influence of heredity, but it is a remarkable fact that a girl who has never had on a thing except shoes and stockings from a point of three inches above her knees to the floor can put on one of these so-called hostess gowns with a long train to it and manage it perfectly.

Yeah?

Chicago News: According to lexicographers, the English word "yes" derives from two Anglo-Saxon words meaning, "Yea, be it so."

Thus is shows itself to be a neat contrivance for expressing in brief a notably positive affirmation.

But the word so admirably contrived now threatens to disappear from the spoken language of the present-day American. He (or she) far too commonly has chosen to substitute for it a curious yawp which may be expressed in types thus: "Yeah."

What, if anything, is the matter with the good old sibilant "yes." And what, if anything, is there to commend the mongrel "yeah" to the not very discriminating public?

UNDERSTANDING.

Give me the man who feels what I feel
And knows what I know;
The man to whom nothing is strange I reveal
Of my pain and my woe,
The man who has walked the hard road I am treading
And once had the thin straws of doubt for his bedding.

Give me a man who can read from my looks
All the harsh facts,
Not one who gathers his knowledge from books,
Pamphlets and tracts,
But one who has learned from life's struggle for glory
The pain and the anguish that run through man's story.

Words have no power to picture a pain.
Talking of woes
To one who has never been stricken is vain.
He never knows
All the strange language of bitter despairing,
He has no wisdom for rugged wayfaring.

Give me the man who can feel what I feel
And knows what I know,
Nothing from him can my heartache conceal;
One glance will show!
He'll read my need for his friendship with knowledge
Gained not from books but from life's bitter college.

Five Hundred Are Killed Every Week by Men Unfit to Handle Their New Toy.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

PICTURE a quiet, tree-lined residence street at sundown. It is the hour of home-coming, relaxation, peace, contentment—when labor loosens its harness and draws an easy breath.

The street is not deserted as it usually is during the supper hour. Little groups of men and women stand in front of the houses and talk in low tones or whispers. Some of the women are sobbing and the men are white-faced and grim.

In the center of the street, wholly oblivious to his surroundings, a man stumbles back and forth carrying a burden. His face is gray and his eyes have the meaningless stare of madness. He moans and talks incoherently to the burden in his arms.

The burden does not hear. It is lifeless.

It is the broken body of a 4-year-old boy—the only child of the man who carries it. The body bends where it shouldn't. The face is white except where the dirt of the street, like powder burns, has been crushed into one temple and cheek. The hair is matted on one side, and blood from the mouth and one ear is turning dark as it dries.

Half an hour ago a young man driving a heavy car turned into this street. It seemed deserted, except for a grocer's truck parked against the curb.

The young man was driving at an ordinary speed and saw no reason to slow down. The way seemed clear. But as he drew alongside the parked truck, a small boy darted from behind it and started to run across the street—thoughtlessly, without looking, as children will.

The young man was a good driver. He pushed his brakes down hard and jerked frantically at the steering wheel. He did his best.

The coroner's jury heard his story and that of one woman who saw the tragedy and called it an unavoidable accident.

Unavoidable accident! How mercilessly those words reveal the hardening of our hearts! How clearly they reveal the change in values that has occurred in twenty years!

It must be called an unavoidable accident if we begin by assuming that the young man was making 30 miles an hour of right and necessity and could not have driven more slowly.

But since that speed endangered life, why couldn't he have driven at the rate of fifteen miles an hour—or ten—or five?

If speed isn't unavoidable, then the tragedy wasn't unavoidable.

But, you say, it would be silly to creep along at five miles an hour in this age. We never would get anywhere. This is a fast age, requiring speed.

Requiring the slaughter of children, would you say? That is the point. We have to decide whether speed or life is worth more.

Tragedy is proof of recklessness. Where ten miles an hour endangers life, ten miles an hour is criminal carelessness.

We must acquire sufficient intelligence to recognize that truth before the slaughter can be stopped.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE AMBASSADOR AND THE PIPE.

General Dawes has swung into action with his famous pipe in London. The first engagement on British territory resulted in a draw. The Prince of Wales was the first to meet the general, stem to stem and bowl to bowl. Overwhelmed by the first broadside of soot and cinders from our ambassador's pocket furnace, the British flag seemed about to fall when distinguished countrymen rallied to its support and saved the day.

* * * *

The general was compelled to call on "Big Zix" for everything it had, and when the smoke had cleared away he seemed willing to accept an even break. However, he put his pipe into drydock for an extensive overhauling, immediately after the battle, and may return to the attack shortly.

* * * *

General Dawes' pipe may be down but it is never out.

* * * *

It all happened at a formal dinner by the British Empire Service League. The Prince of Wales was chairman; the American Ambassador and his pipe were invited guests. The ambassador stoked his pipe for action immediately after dinner and lost no time getting underway. The Prince of Wales pulled out his trusty briar and closed smartly with the general, but was outmatched from the start.

* * * *

The prince's pipe was merely a pipe, but the general's first line of offense was a combination blast furnace, 1907 Ford runabout and working model of Vesuvius in eruption. Wales' pipe carries fuel for only two hours' cruising, but the general's "dudeen" is an eight-day affair operated on the lines of an oil-burning furnace, except that it has no thermostatic control and can be refueled from the air.

* * * *

When England's desperate position was realized, every Englishman in the hall sprang to his pipe. They had anticipated trouble and secreted them in their dress clothes. Many of the men had spent four years in the trenches and were no amateur smokers.

* * * *

Sensing that the prince was on his last legs and had begun to wither under American tobacco, they jumped into the breach and fought fire with fire.

* * * *

The tide of battle was soon turned. But General Dawes didn't know when he was licked. He felt overcome by fumes, but thought they were from his own pipe.

* * * *

So much smoke hadn't been seen in England since the great London fire.

* * * *

The banquet broke up with pledges of lasting friendship between Great Britain and America. It just goes to show that it is impossible to stir up another war.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Resident of the Southeast Complains of Conditions Prevailing in the Neighborhood of the Garbage Collection Plant—Says Southeast Is Discriminated Against.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: May I use your columns to appeal for relief from the nauseating, unhealthful conditions prevailing in and around the garbage collection plant at New Jersey avenue and I street southeast?

The disgraceful service—or lack of service—prevailing at this plant together with the abominable methods practiced by the railroad company in the removable of this refuse each night is enough to drive everybody frantic with indignation. Apparently the city officials neither care for our general health nor our comfort. Ordinary cleanliness seems to be a phrase totally unknown to them.

Garbage can be collected, stored and transported without filling the heavens with sickening odors if men responsible for the service will practice a little ordinary care and display a little common sense.

It is a sorry commentary to make, but nevertheless it is a fact that the higher our taxes soar the poorer our public service becomes. At times it looks like rank discrimination. Other sections of our city get all the care and attention and ours suffers from indifference and neglect. Patience is snubbed, good nature is imposed upon. Garfield Park is only a short walk from the Library of Congress and the Capitol buildings; it could be made the prettiest and most desirable resident section in the city.

Defense of the Middle-Aged Worker—What Would Happen if All Employers Discarded Their Workers as Soon as They Reached a Certain Age?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Henry Ford shows commendable good sense in his approval of middle-aged men in his factories. The extent to which factories are shutting out older men in favor of younger ones has become a menace to our industrial civilization. As the Baltimore Sun remarks, there is something dizzy in a civilization which dictates that men are nonproductive as soon as they reach maturity. Mr. Ford recognizes experience, mature judgment and patience as more than offsetting the so-called vigor of ycunger men.

If the tendency to eliminate older men is continued what will become of the wage earners of America? Science is constantly lengthening life and industry is constantly shortening the period of a man's supposed usefulness. If men must cease working at the age of 45 or even 60, they must earn enough during their productive years to keep them in idleness in their so-called old age. The time may come when the average man will not have to work beyond the period where middle age and old age meet, but that time has not arrived yet. At present it is a serious economic waste to put up the bars against efficient workmen because they have lost their youth.

It is comforting to find a man like Mr. Ford testifying to the worth of his older employes. His words should open the eyes of industrialists who refuse to employ any but young men. What would happen if every employer adopted the practice of discarding his men like wornout machinery after they had been in service for 20 years or so?

MIDDLE-AGED WORKER.

Record of Diplomat Traffic Violation Proves a Dud—Let's Have a Closed Season on Diplomat Baiting.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Once more the mountain has labored and brought forth a mouse! Thanks to the Arkansaic zeal of Senator Caraway, the whole record of traffic violations by our diplomatic guests has been spread across the pages of our newspapers.

What a record it is! Thirty-seven violations in thirteen years. An average of 2.6 a year for the approximately 415 members of the corps and their families. One violation a year for each 900 people to whom, in exchange for similar privileges to our representatives abroad, we extend "courtesies."

I wonder if there is any other class of people in Washington with a record half so good. I myself have twice in the past six months had to deposit collateral for parking overtime, and I know no one who habitually drives an automobile who doesn't occasionally run afoul of one or another of Washington's 300 traffic rules. Recently published statistics showed that last year about one out of each four citizens of Washington, including infants and ancients, was haled before the bar of justice. How about congressmen and senators themselves? I respectfully suggest to Senator Caraway that he put before us their traffic bureau dossiers. And also those of Cabinet Secretaries and members of the Supreme Court.

I don't know how other Americans feel, but I for one have long since used up all my patience with the diplomat-baiters. Senator Blease, who blandly admits that he likes a drink now and then, wishes to take away their wine. Apparently Senator Caraway wants to take away their automobiles. Who will be the solon to put a ban on their receptions?

Diplomats in Washington aren't allowed to live, as they would like, in peace and quiet. Their every word and action is watched by controversialists and used as a peg for contention and propaganda. Because of the nature of their residence here, as official guests of the country, they are forced to remain mute under dire provocation. Let's have a closed season on diplomats.

Yachting Lures Many Capital Residents Now

Prominent Families Plan Long Cruises; Small Craft Abound.

By JEAN ELIOT.

ALTHOUGH several big yachts which lent color to the Potomac during the early summer have cruised away, and many of the smaller boats as well, many Washingtonians are the proud possessors of sail boat or motor craft that are still here. They are making use of their boats either in the Chesapeake region or at seaside resorts along the Atlantic Coast.

Representative and Mrs. Parker Corning have a fine yacht, the Seafarer, aboard which they spend much time when they are "in residence" at Sea Urchins, their Bar Harbor home. Senator and Mrs. Jesse Metcalf have but recently sailed from Washington aboard the Felicia, on which they lived for several weeks during the early summer and aboard which they entertained constantly. They have taken the yacht to Providence, R. I., which is to be their home port for the rest of the summer.

At Nonquitt, where they have had their summer home for a score of years, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Brooke have a large sailboat, the Munasca, in which they spend many happy hours. Mr. and Mrs. Brooke have been at Nonquitt for two weeks and will be joined today by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker Stone.

Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Rinehart bought a good looking speedboat early in the spring, which gave rise to the theory that they might spend the summer in this part of the world. However, they have recently left for Wyoming, where it has been their custom to spend summer on a ranch for many years and where their boat will not be of much use to them. But Dr. Rinehart spent many afternoons exploring the Potomac in his new craft before he went away.

Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan Plan Cruise to Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. John Buchanan have recently purchased a big cruiser and will start shortly from New York to take her to Georgian Bay, Canada, where they have a summer home on one of the little islands which dot the bay. They live in Warrenton, Va., but were formerly in Washington, and have many friends here. Mr. Buchanan is the son of the late Gen. James A. Buchanan, and his handsome wife was Miss Ruth Lester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wharton E. Lester.

Mr. and Mrs. McElroy Moss, son and daughter-in-law of the late Judge McKenzie Moss, also have acquired a boat, which is now anchored in the Potomac and aboard which they take frequent trips. Mr. Moss and a group of men recently brought the boat from Baltimore and had many adventures on the way, since none of them was skilled as a navigator. They ran aground near Point Lookout and thought for a while they had lost their craft, but she was eventually salvaged and they got her safely into port off Washington, although it took them four week-ends to achieve the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pulver, who have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Alexander Legare, at York Harbor, were due to go on July 1 to Gibson Island, Md., where they have a cottage, for the summer and where they keep their power boat, the Scarab.

The young Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roeblings usually spend their summers at Gibson Island, where they keep their big cruiser. He is the son of Mrs. Arthur O'Brien and a brother of pretty Miss Allison Roebling, who is to be a debutante next season.

Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Borden, whose summer home is at Chaumont, N. Y., have two boats, the Polly and the Tonka. And Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kurtz have a yacht, the Ambo, which they keep at their place at Northeast Harbor, Me.

Ambassador of Chile Entertains His Staff.

The Ambassador of Chile, Senor Don Carlos G. Davila, entertained the members of his staff yesterday at luncheon at the Mayflower. Lee; Senor Carlos de la Barra and Mr. Reuben Gordon.

Mrs. James D. Morgan Will Sail on Tuesday.

Mrs. James Dudley Morgan will sail for Europe on the Berengaria on Tuesday, July 16, accompanied by her son, Mr. Edwin F. A. Morgan, of Baltimore. While abroad, Mrs. Morgan will travel on the Continent and later will visit her son-in-law and daughter, Col. and Mrs. Maurice Fitzmaurice Day, at their home on the Isle of Wight.

Mr. and Mrs. Streeter Flynn will arrive here today from Oklahoma City for a brief visit. Mrs. Flynn will leave later in the week with her father, Mr. LeRoy Tuttle, to join Mrs. Tuttle at Bass Rocks, Mass., where the latter has taken a cottage for the summer.

Mrs. John F. Dryden left yesterday for Rumson, N. J., where she is opening her home for the season. Mr. Dryden will visit in Rumson next week-end.

Dickey, in Dayton, Ohio, have arrived at Wakefield Manor, the home of her mother, Mrs. George Barnett, in Virginia. Mrs. Dickey and her children will stay in this country until the fall, when she will return to France and reopen her villa in Pau for the winter.

Virginia Estate Summer Home Of Dr. Marlatt

Entomologist and Family to Spend Vacation in Nearby Hills.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Marlatt have leased for the summer the charming estate in the Virginia hills which was long the home of the late Rear Admiral Presley M. Rixey, who was surgeon general of the Navy, and before that served as physician to President Roosevelt. The house adjoins the Washington Country Club and was one of the first mansions built in a charming section which is enjoying a growing popularity with Washingtonians.

Dr. Marlatt, a distinguished scientist, is chief of the Bureau of Entomology of the Department of Agriculture. He married one of the Mackay-Smith girls, daughters of the late Bishop Alexander Mackay-Smith. One of Mrs. Marlatt's sisters is now Mrs. William Bell Watkins, of Philadelphia and Berryville, Va. The other, Miss Virginia Mackay-Smith, married Capt. Boy-Ed, Naval Attache of the German Embassy before the war. She is now visiting Mrs. Mackay-Smith at her summer home at Seal Harbor, Me.

Dr. and Mrs. Marlatt have four pretty daughters, Florence, Virginia, Dorothy and Constance. The eldest, Miss Florence Marlatt, made her debut two years ago.

Cuban Senorita, Diplomat's Kin, Visiting Capital

Daughter of Ambassador to Norway and Sweden Is Professor.

Senorita Urquiaga is professor of history in the Normal School at Havana. She is en route to Europe to join her father and will spend the summer abroad.

It is unfortunate that Senorita Urquiaga should be in town in the off-season, when there is little going on. The wife of the Cuban Ambassador, who might have entertained for her, is in New York. Although the Ambassador, Senor de Ferrara, is in town, it is just for the day. He has been on a Chatauqua tour and will leave Washington again tomorrow morning to meet Senora de Ferrara in New York. SON PROVIDES DRAMA IN HEART BALM SUIT

Hardinge Gulps as His Counsel Exhibits Boy in Court; Woman on Stand.

DENIES CRITICISM OF BOY

Chicago, July 1 (A.P.).—Trial of the $250,000 breach of promise suit brought by Ann Livingston, 29-year-old divorcee, of Tulsa, Okla., against Franklin S. Hardinge, 62-year-old manufacturer of oil burners, reached a dramatic point today as the defendant's son, 20 years old and six feet tall, was exhibited to the jury.

In the midst of Hardinge's testimony, right after he termed Miss Livingston avaricious and grasping, his attorney had the boy stand up.

"Did you ever see this young man before?" the attorney asked.

Hardinge gulped, but did not answer.

"He's your son, isn't he?"

The gray-haired witness nodded. Attorney Benjamin Erlich, representing Miss Livingston, leaped to his feet.

"It's my chance now," he exclaimed, "let the record show Hardinge is crying!"

John Bussian, attorney for Hardinge, had made a similar declaration when Miss Livingston was on the stand.

Bussian now ignored Erlich and went on with the drama.

"Did you ever tell Miss Livingston that you didn't like this boy?" he asked Hardinge.

"No."

"Did you ever tell her he was a weakling?"

"No."

"What's the point to this?" demanded Erlich. "Miss Livingston never testified that he said such things."

"That's all," said Bussian as the younger Hardinge plowed through the crowd of spectators to leave the courtroom.

Hardinge continued his story of unappreciated love on the stand. He said Miss Livingston wanted his whole estate, that she was not satisfied with a mere $100,000 bequest in his will; that during December, 1927, she grew more and more avaricious and that she never was good natured unless she was buying something.

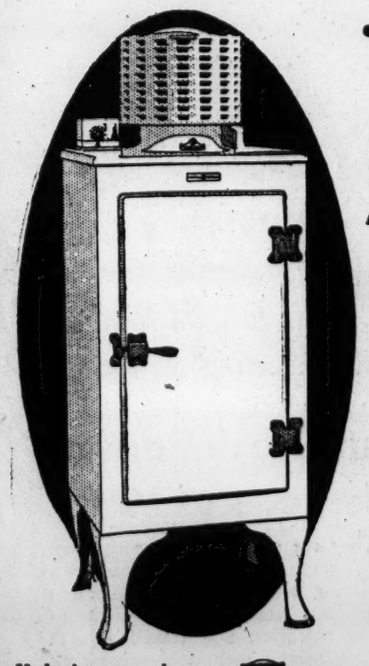
IT CANNOT WARP
..because it is
ALL-STEEL

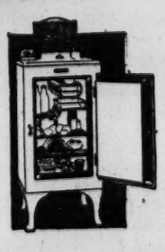


THE General Electric Refrigerator requires no soldering or plumbing because it has no drain-pipe. It is merely put into place and plugged into any electric outlet. It uses a minimum of current because the all-steel cabinet cannot warp and therefore never allows heat to creep in or cold to seep out.

No longer does "any refrigerator" satisfy the discriminating apartment-hunter. It must be a General Electric . . . because this remarkable all-steel refrigerator has many unique features which make it ideal for apartment use.

It is individually controlled—its operation does not depend at all on the janitor or on any installation in the building. It is exceptionally and remarkably quiet. It freezes ice faster (one tray in two hours, two trays in four).

Another vital factor which causes so many progressive builders to choose this refrigerator is the prestige of the General Electric name. It instantly identifies the apartment with all that is dependable and desirable.



Mechanism on top...hermetically sealed...never needs oiling...quiet, all-steel, cannot warp...electrically operated. $215 at the factory.

All steel with electrically welded joints. Heavy hardware bolted into the steel. Black-faced door edges, self-closing latch, gliders to protect linoleum, and many other unique features.

Listen in on the General Electric Hour, broadcast every Saturday evening, 9 to 10 Eastern Standard Time, over the N. B. C. network of forty-two stations.

KING GEORGE GIVEN RIOTOUS WELCOME

Great Crowd Cheers Monarch as He Returns From Windsor Castle.

THANKS ARE EXPRESSED

London, July 1 (U.P.).—King George V was home tonight behind the walls of Buckingham Palace, where a few hours earlier a great crowd had noisily cheered him at a demonstration such as is seldom witnessed in any world capital.

Appearing in better health than at any time since his long illness shrouded Buckingham Palace in gloom last autumn, the king and members of the royal family stood on a balcony before the crowd which welcomed him home early this afternoon and were cheered repeatedly.

The king's return from Windsor Castle, where he had been recuperating, was a triumphal journey and the demonstration at the palace fittingly climaxed it. While Queen Mary acknowledged the cheers of the crowd, the king disappeared from the balcony for a moment and returned carrying Princess Elizabeth, the tiny daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York.

Child Throws Kisses.

The golden-haired little princess waved and threw kisses to the throng as her grandfather held her in his arms.

Later the king issued a message to his people. It said:

"I wish to express my heartfelt gratitude for the affectionate and enthusiastic welcome which I received on returning after long months of illness to the capital of my empire.

"Signed, GEORGE, R. I."

The king and queen will remain here about a week before going to their summer home at Sandringham.

The king and queen, riding in a closed motor car, left ancient Windsor Castle at 10:50 a. m., passing through thousands of cheering spectators in the city. The king wore morning clothes and a silk hat, appearing remarkably well.

The closed automobile carried them from Windsor to Kensington, less than an hour's drive, where they changed to an open carriage despite the rather unfavorable weather. The day was sunless, with a cold, raw breeze.

Horses Draw Carriage.

Escorted by guards and with their carriage drawn by four fine bay horses with brilliant trappings, the king and queen proceeded from Kensington to Hyde Park Corner. The crowds on the streets cheered them loudly as they drove on to Piccadilly, St. James street, Marlborough Gate, across the Mall to Buckingham Palace.

Thousands of school children lined the route, and often the royal carriage was showered with flowers, recalling the journey of the king and queen from Bognor, where he was taken after passing the crisis of his illness, to Windsor Castle.

The spectators fairly jammed the streets to capacity, and the cheering was entirely without restraint as the royal carriage approached the palace at noon, five months after the king was removed to Bognor still seriously ill.

The king and queen, sitting together, smiled their response to the cheers, especially when they were given a thunderous greeting along Piccadilly. Streets had been cleared of traffic and every inch of standing room was occupied. Hundreds of others leaned from windows or roofs.

Flags, including the American banner, were flying from virtually every building, and there were many Americans in the crowd which welcomed his majesty back to the capital.

Two Fliers Desert Plane When Fuel Is Exhausted

Johnstown, Pa., July 1 (A.P.).—Taking to their parachutes after they were unable to find a landing place when their fuel became exhausted while passing over the Allegheny Mountains today, two airmen dropped to safety near St. Michaels, east of here. The occupants of the plane, Richard De Few, jr., pilot, and Atwood Woodruff, passenger, suffered only minor cuts and bruises.

The men jumped at 6,000 feet after their plane started to fall from an altitude of 11,000 feet. The plane was wrecked. The plane, a Fairchild six-passenger cabin craft, was being flown from the Fairchild factory at Farmingdale, Long Island, to St. Louis. Woodruff is a son of the sales manager of the Fairchild company.

Blazing Body Is Found On Lonely Illinois Road

Annawan, Ill., July 1 (A.P.).—The body of an unidentified man was found burning on a little-used country road, 2 miles west of here, last night by two boys. It was wrapped in a patch-work quilt soaked in gasoline. A jug nearby, believed to have contained gasoline, was wrapped in a Peoria (Ill.) paper dated June 24.

Dr. J. M. Young, who examined the body, said the man, who was about 45 years old, had been dead about twelve hours. He said a blow on the left side of the head caused death. The only clew was the imprint of a woman's high-heeled shoe in the mud. Identification of the man may be made by tracing the false teeth, Sheriff Charles Nash of Henry County said tonight.

Woman Sues Taxi Firm For Damages of $10,000

Mary R. Wooden, of 9 Q street northeast, instituted suit for $10,000 damages for alleged personal injuries yesterday in the District Supreme Court against the Independent Taxi Owners Association, Inc., 1735 Fourteenth street northwest; Frank D. Stone and Charles E. Patterson, both of 425 Sixteenth street southeast.

Through Attorneys Harlan Wood and James P. Donovan, the plaintiff declared she was seriously injured on December 31, 1928, at Eleventh and G streets northwest when struck by a cab owned by Stone and operated by Patterson. Stone was said to be a member of the taxi association.

BEHIND THE SCREENS

With NELSON B. BELL

Beginning today, representatives of the motion picture theater owners of fifteen States—or more—will meet at the Mayflower Hotel to protest against the high film rentals and other practices on the part of the producers which are said to be driving the small independent theaters out of business.

The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors, which has its headquarters in this city.

The conclave will be opened by Abram F. Myers, general counsel of the association, who will summarize reports of conditions received from all parts of the United States. The meeting will then become an open forum.

Among the exhibitor leaders who have signified their intention of attending the conference are Herman A. Blum, president of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Maryland; Col. H. A. Cole, president of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Texas; William A. Steffes, president of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota; Jack Miller, president of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Illinois; Fred Wehrenberg, president of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Missouri; J. J. Harwood, president of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Ohio; Messrs. Glenn A. Cross and H. M. Richey, director and general manager, respectively, of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Michigan; Steve Bauer and Henry A. Staab, president and secretary of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Wisconsin; E. P. Smith, president of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Iowa; Sidney E. Samuelson, chairman of the board of directors of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of New Jersey; Charles R. Metzger, attorney, Motion Picture Theater Owners of Indiana.

In addition, individual exhibitors will attend from a number of other States.

And then they will all turn around and go home again and my guess is that the rentals will be just the same as they were before.

The gentleman who made "Thunderbolt," current at the Metropolitan, ought to know something about the answer to Mr. Shakespeare's celebrated question as to the relative importance of nomenclature.

Samuel Sharwenka Rossiter Strudella Stewart, son of Charles Henry Exicius Stewart, and brother of Martha Mary Magdelene Ann Stewart, has the part of a negro convict in George Bancroft's latest all-talkie. Stewart is a concert pianist and vocalist and brings his musical talent as well as his name to the screen.

Considerable curiosity, no doubt, will be felt by those who view "The Black Watch," Victor McLaglen's first all-talking picture, at the Fox this week, as to the identity of the young man with the splendid voice who sings the old Scotch ballads so delightfully at the officers' mess.

He is David Percy, whose mellow barytone was heard to such marked advantage in the "Fox Movietone Follies."

Those with a yen for fame on the screen still unappeased should be reminded that The Washington Post-Fox Theater screen test competition has entered its last lap. There is still time—but not too much—for those desirous of getting in the running for review by the executives of a big producing firm to qualify.

Two releases of the finished tests have been put on view at the Fox, the second being scheduled as a part of the current bill. The tests, as must immediately be perceived by any impartial observer, are ample to indicate to a skilled eye whether or not the subject bids fair to prove the possessor of such talents as those for which the producers are in search. While many seem not to be so blessed, there are several others to whom I should be tempted to accord more than an outside chance.

Come on, you sheiks and shebas!

Walter Long has come back to life with a voice! Not that it particularly matters, but this formerly prominent screen actor hasn't been seen for many months and even in the old silent days was used principally to frighten small children with as sinister a countenance as ever got a job in pictures.

He is not especially comforting in "The Black Watch," but his menace has now become vocal rather than visual. What a tough egg he would be to meet up a dark alley.

Yes, and he always was!

It begins to look as if Gloria Swanson might in course of time outdistance the jinx that has attended all of her recent undertakings. In her new picture, to be caled "The Trespasser," Miss Swanson will sing two songs. Victor records will be made of the same numbers for release simultaneously with the completion of the picture as an earnest to the public that the star really can sing and has not made use of a ghost voice on the screen.

This project out of the way, I understand that work will be begun on the remaking of "Queen Kelly," now being rewritten to evade the ire of the censors.

When all this has been successfully accomplished, I should say that the marquise might be deemed entitled to the European vacation it is said she plans to take.

I hope it won't rain for your picnic.

FULL FARM BOARD THIS WEEK IS PLAN

Hoover Gets One Conditional Acceptance and Expects Two Others Today.

TEAGUE MAY SERVE YEAR

(Associated Press.)

If President Hoover has his way, the Federal Farm Board will be a fact next Monday.

He has filled three of the eight posts. Of the three others offered appointments, one said yesterday he had notified the President he would accept for one year and Mr. Hoover hopes to have definite replies from the other two today. He expects to complete the board's personnel by the week-end.

Charles C. Teague, prominent in California agricultural cooperatives, said yesterday in Santa Paula, Calif., that he had informed the President he was willing to serve a year. White House officials declined to say whether such an arrangement would be satisfactory.

W. S. Moscrip, of Lake Elmo, Minn., and Alexander H. Legge, of Chicago, are those from whom early word is expected.

Those who have accepted membership on the board are James C. Stone, of Kentucky; C. B. Denman, of Missouri, and Carl Williams, of Oklahoma. Stone will represent tobacco, Denman the live stock industry and Williams the cotton growers.

If Teague, Moscrip and Legge are available, two places on the board will remain to be filled. As yet the President has appointed no one to represent the wheat industry. It is expected that the eighth place will go to one experienced in the field of banking and finance, as Mr. Hoover announced when he signed the farm bill that such a man would be appointed to the board.

Dry Leader Denies Tinkham's Charges

Temperance Board's Funds Used Legally, Declares Deets Pickett.

Chicago, July 1 (A.P.).—A denial that the Methodist Church Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals had made any expenditures rendering it subject to prosecution under the corrupt practices act, was made today by Deets Pickett, research secretary of the Research Board. His statement was in reply to the demand of Representative Tinkham, of Massachusetts, for the board's prosecution.

"The Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals," said Pickett, "has made no expenditures properly reportable under the corrupt practices act. That act is not intended to suppress the right of free speech.

"The expenditures of the board in 1928 were less than the average annual expenditures for the five-year period immediately preceding 1928. Those expenditures were made not in political campaigns, but for the expression of opinion and fact in the periodicals of the board and in promoting temperance education work by visitation to the annual conferences and other church assemblies.

Canaries Die in Blaze At Rear of Residence

Three pet canaries were burned to death in a two-alarm fire on the rear porch of 3012-3014 Q street northwest yesterday morning.

Starting in a pile of trash under the porch, the fire was kept from spreading to the remander of the dwelling, but caused approximately $1,000 damage to the porch, it was estimated. The burned canaries were owned by Gertrude and Helen Smith and Mrs. Edward McEwen, who occupy the apartments in the house.

RACE CLASH MARKS PATRONAGE HEARING

Brookhart and Creager Tilt as Committee Closes Texas Inquiry.

WURZBACH IS ACCUSED

Dallas, Tex., July 1 (A.P.).—Denying charges made by other witnesses with regard to patronage in Texas under investigation by a Senate committee, Rene B. Creager, Republican national committeeman for this State, used the term "nigger-lover" in a session of the hearing here today. The committee, of which Senator Smith W. Brookhart, of Iowa, is chairman, adjourned finally at the end of the session. Earlier sessions had been held at San Antonio.

This morning, Harry Beck, Dallas, charged the State Republican organization was interested only in controlling patronage. He said the Creager "machine" is a "pie counter."

Creager informed the committee that "Beck is a nigger-lover."

Beck rose to his feet. "That's false; untrue," he shouted.

"I've got a picture of you with a negro," Senator Brookhart interjected.

"No, you haven't," Creager said. "No such picture was taken."

"We have other information to substantiate that picture," Brookhart declared.

"You have been informed of lots of things and assert them as true when they are not true," Creager replied.

During his testimony today, Creager threatened to prosecute Harry M. Wurzbach, former Republican representative from Texas, for accepting a contribution of $50 toward his campaign expenses from E. J. Keudell, San Antonio mail clerk. Wurzbach was defeated for reelection by a Democratic candidate. He ran without the support of the State Republican organization.

Wurzbach, Creager charged, accepted a $50 check from Keudell for primary expenses. Wurzbach was indicted but "excused" on the ground that the law did not cover donations for primaries, Creager said, adding he believed it his duty to see that the former representative is prosecuted for accepting the second check.

Answering a question by both Senators Brookhart and McKellar, Creager declared he was in favor of enforcement of the Volstead act and that if another election should be called he would vote for prohibition.

Suspect in Slaying Is Killed in Siege

Washington Fugitive Stands Off Posse 12 Hours in Small Shack.

Spokane, Wash., July 1 (A.P.).—"Blackjack" Rowden, wanted for the slaying of a miner, was shot to death today by Sheriff Floyd Brower in the cabin from which he had stood off a posse for twelve hours. Pend Oreille County officers surrounded his cabin in the wild country of Metaline Falls, near the Canadian border, following the killing of Harry Friedlund, and Sheriff Harry Fox, of Newport, called to him to give up.

"You are getting paid for your time, and I am not," Rowden, gun in hand, retorted from his barricaded shack. "If you want me you will have to shoot it out."

Spokane County officers were called, and Sheriff Brower, with deputies, a machine gun and tear bombs, arrived. Rowden, well armed, was still holding out. The machine gun coughed a score of missiles into the cabin, driving Rowden into one corner. Then Brower crashed open the door. As the officer drew his pistol Rowden fired once and missed. Brower shot him through the chest.

Thousands of Deaths Laid To Alleged Radium "Trust"

Army of Cancer Victims, Unable to Take Treatment Because of High Price Put on Metal, Succumbs Annually, It Is Charged by Scientist.

New York, July 1 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Existence of a monopoly which holds up the price of radium and thus keeps it from cancer victims is charged by Dr. Richard B. Moore, head of the science department of Purdue University and a research expert on radium, in a letter quoted in the July number of Industrial Engineering and Chemistry out tomorrow.

Dr. Harrison E. Howe, editor of the Journal, in the same issue, reports having heard that hte monopolizing company put into effect for a time a definite plan for restricting production in order to maintain the price.

Dispatches from London quote G. L. Lechien, director of the Union Miniere Lu Huat Katanga, as saying that the present radium price is too low and that his company contemplates raising it.

After calling attention to the retail price of $70,000 per gram now charged for radium in this country, Dr. Moore goes on to say that "the actual costs to the company for producing radium are not known, but it should be very easy to obtain this rare element from 40 per cent ore for about $10,000 per gram, exclusive of mining costs and overhead.

"Meanwhile thousands of cancer patients are dying every year who do not have the opportunity of being treated with radium which at the present time is the only successful treatment of cancer outside of an operation. A larger production and a much wider distribution would mean an additional number of lives saved."

A Belgian group, according to Dr. Howe, of the Journal, controls practically the entire present radium output. It operates in the Belgian Congo. The mining section of the group, known as the Union Miniere Du Haut Katanga, has New York offices. At these offices it was learned that the selling end is carried on by the Belgo-American Trading Co. It was said there that while the Belgian group does have a large hold on the present production of radium, it does so because it controls the world's best ore and can produce more cheaply than could mines which were operated in this country for a time.

The Business Woman finds a new answer to her oldest hygienic problem.

ACROSS the counter, in offices, in drawing rooms, in country clubs—wherever women meet the world, they are learning new freedom, new composure and ease of mind through the discarding of makeshift sanitary protection. Kotex has changed the hygienic habits of women all over the world.

85% of hospitals use Kotex filler

Can you imagine any more eloquent tribute to Kotex than this? Surgeons in 85% of the hospitals in this country select Kotex filler (Cellucotton absorbent wadding) for their patients! Not only for sanitary pads, but for all surgical dressings! This is the same, identical, Kotex-made Cellucotton

New advantages

Each pad deodorizes completely and safely. A certain bulkiness associated with old-fashioned methods has been overcome, too. Each pad is rounded and tapered in such a way as to leave no evidence of sanitary protection.

Former superiorities retained

You may remove or adjust layers of filler as needed—a thing all women appreciate. There is a new softness, because both filler and gauze have been specially treated. Cellucotton absorbent wadding takes up 16 times its own weight in moisture—5 times more than cotton itself. Finally, Kotex is so easy to dispose of, eliminating all need of laundering.

Softer gauze, softer filler.

1—Kotex is soft... not a deceptive softness that packs into a hard chafing mass, but a fleecy, delicate, comfortable softness.

2—Corners rounded and tapered for inconspicuous protection.

3—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a patented process.

4—Adjustable filler may be changed to suit your individual needs

5—It is easily disposed of.

Lamont Will Speak Over Air Tonight

"Wings of Commerce" Is Topic of Secretary on WRC; Music Glorifying American Nation Upon WMAL at 9 P. M.

The static was hard on the ears of the radio audience last night. There was no pleasure listening to any but local stations.

Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont will be the principal speaker tonight at 6 o'clock in the first of a series of aviation broadcasts to be carried over the National Broadcasting chain, including WRC, every Tuesday night. Secretary Lamont's subject is to be "Wings of Commerce."

Frederick B. Rentschler, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, will inaugurate the radio series and outline its purposes before introducing the chief speaker.

The series is jointly sponsored by the National Broadcasting Co. and the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce. Other speakers scheduled in the series are Herbert Hoover, jr.; F. Trubee Davidson, War Secretary for Aeronautics; Capt. Frank Hawks, transcontinental record-holder; Lieut. Apollo Soucek, who recently drove a Navy seaplane seven miles high, and the veteran air mail pilots, Wesley Smith and Hamilton Lee.

Another program is available for air-minded listeners at 7:30 o'clock when "Crazed Wings," a story of a battle in the air, will be presented in dramatized form over WMAL and Columbia System stations. In addition there will be a talk on an aeronautical topic and a review of aviation news.

Music glorifying the American Nation will make up the greater part of the Voice of Columbia program at 9 o'clock over WMAL. Victor Herbert's "American Fantasy" will head the list of national music in anticipation of July Fourth; and two selections in honor of the South, "Way Down South in Heaven" and "Evolution of Dixie" will follow. Meecham's "American Patrol" will add a further touch of patriotism, while Sousa's "Stars and Stripes" will close the program.

Paul Whiteman, in the Old Gold Hour at 8 o'clock, also offers a prelude to Independence Day in a war medley with songs reminiscent of the allied armies. The medley will include "Over There," "It's a Grand Old Flag," "Hinky Dinky Parley Vous" and "Tipperary."

"You Belong to Me," popular number in "The Broadway Melody," will be sung and played by the Whiteman musicians for the first time over the air tonight also.

Current hits from popular shows along Broadway comprises the Prophylactic program to be broadcast over WRC at 7:30 o'clock. Gibbons' "Peace and Mind" will be sung by the trio of men's voices, with Gene Rodemich directing the orchestra. Selections will be chosen from "Ziegfeld Midnight Frolic," "Ziegfeld Follies" and "Show Boat" among other shows.

Mrs. Giles Scott Rafter, president of the District of Columbia Congress of Parents and Teachers and one of the founders of the national organization, will speak over WOL at 7 o'clock tonight on the new course of study for parents and teachers that will be inaugurated at George Washington University in the fall. The course, something new in higher educational curriculums, is attracting national recognition.

Debussy and Mendelssohn will be the high spots of the joint piano and violin recital that Mathilde Harding and Sergei Kotlarsky will present over WMAL and the Columbia chain at 7 o'clock. Miss Harding will play Debussy's very beautiful "Arabesque" as her main contribution, while Mr. Kotlarsky will play the third movement from Mendelssohn's concerto in E minor.

Another program bringing to listeners explanaitons of the work which the Department of Agriculture is carrying on will be conducted by Dr. W. G. Campbell, a director of regulatory work in the department, during the broadcast at 1:30 o'clock over WRC and the N. B. C. chain. Dr. Campbell has charge of the staff of thousands of inspectors and regional men who report the purity of the Nation's drug and food supply. He will describe the manner in which this work is conducted.

Specialized Luggage

© VOGUE

A traveler should learn to carry a minimum amount of luggage, but this should not be interpreted as doing without the amount needed for the journey or crowding one's belongings into too small a space. To enjoy traveling, the first requisite is comfort, and this refers to luggage as well as to trains, boats and hotels. Each journey makes different demands on the kind of trunks and bags the traveler will carry, and one should consider this fact very carefully before planning the luggage for any trip.

One of the most adequate conveniences for a stay of a week is the wardrobe suitcase. This is large enough to hang dresses and coats in neat order, and to contain compartments for lingerie and hats, and yet it is small enough to be carried easily by a porter.

For longer trips, however, there is a tendency to revert to the old-fashioned tray trunk, supplemented by smaller bags designed for special uses. One of the smartest luxuries of this type is the pharmacy box at the left of the sketch, holding red enamel bottles, glass bottles, jars for creams and prescription envelopes.

The monitor case at the right in the illustration proves capacious enough for an overnight sojourn and is an invaluable supplement to other luggage. In the bottles may be carried all the necessities of the toilet, and in the remaining space may be folded the nightgown, pullman robe and slippers.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

MALTA FEVER.

MRS. H. O. F. writes: What is Malta fever?

REPLY.

Malta fever was so named because it first attracted attention as a disease which prevailed in the Island of Malta. There was a British garrison in this island and the troops were very greatly troubled with this disease. What its nature was, what its cause, its relationship to typhoid and malaria, and how to prevent it soon became important medical and military problems. This served to acquaint the world with its name.

It was found that it was neither malaria nor typhoid, but a separate disease. The microbe which caused it was located and named. It was discovered that it was primarily a disease of goats and that humans got it by drinking raw goat's milk. Since the only milk cow on this island was the goat, for a time the soldiers either ate condensed milk out of a can or else they did without the lacteal fluid. Eventually it was found that pasteurizing goat's milk made it safe even though the source of supply was infected herds.

So far the disease was of no practical importance to the inhabitants of this country. Then a strange fever began to be recognized, particularly in the Southwest. This was finally called Malta fever and it was charged against milk goats. Somewhere in the same period it was found that a bacillus which prevailed widely among dairy cows was either the bacillus of Malta fever or else very closely related to it. Then came recognition of a fever widely distributed over the country, a fever that was neither typhoid nor malaria, but which was very similar to Malta fever. Finally this American breed of Malta fever was christened undulant fever. The term was used because of the on and off, up and down, range of temperature. It relapses worse than malaria. Then it was established that this bacillus of dairy cows and dairy goats was also found in hogs.

Up to the present moment there has been no agreement as to just what are the relations between these bacilli as found in cows, in hogs, in goats, and in humans. Therefore, the fight to bring the bacillus under control is halting somewhat. So far as humans are concerned there is agreement that milk is the medium of infection. The way for a person to escape it is to drink no raw milk. The veterinarians are considering pasteurizing of skim milk and vaccination as measures for controlling the disease in cows and hogs.

What Today Means to You

July 2.

"CANCER."

IF July 2 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this day are from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m., 2 p. m. to 3 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 5 a. m. to 7 a. m., and from 1 p. m. to 2 p. m.

The planetary aspects on this date are not uplifting, and only the most confirmed optimist will be able to keep up his faith in the atmosphere of discouragement and hopelessness. A change for the better may be anticipated during the early evening, at which time, life will assume a more roseate color.

The child born July 2 will possess a very active mind. It will be a quick, but not a deep student, and will be able to pluck a great many mental treasurers, without much effort. It will not have either the patience or perseverance to seek those things which are only obtained through continued effort.

You were born with considerable initiative, and it is to this characteristic, more than to anything else, that you owe most of your success in life. It places you in file for those rewards which are only given to those who can go ahead on their own. When others hang back, waiting to be told what to do, and how, you find your job and proceed unaided.

You dislike supervision or taking dictation, and you only do things well when left to your own individual resources—you are a "washout" as anybody else's tool. Your self-confidence is not a product of conceit. It is justified by your exceptional ability. You are not willing to take a back seat, and why should you? You have a perfect right to the orchestra seats in life, as you are able to fill all the requirements. It can be said of you, however, that you never try to "air" your brilliancy, nor in any way try to lord it over your mental inferiors.

You know how to win modestly, and you can also do a much more difficult thing—lose graciously. Failures only put you on your mettle, and they are never the cause of permanent discouragement. There are many roads to success, and you are afraid of none of them.

Successful people born July 2:

Uncle Ray's Corner

BESIDES the "little planets" or "Planetoids," there are eight fair-sized planets in the sky—Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupitor, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune.

All of these eight balls of matter go around the sun. They make regular trips, but they travel at different speeds and are at different distances.

Diagram showing "how the sun would look" from different planets.

Closest to the sun is Mercury, the "little Brother" of the other planets. If there were people on Mercury the sun would look much larger to them than it does to us.

The second closest planet is Venus. From Venus the sun would look smaller than from Mercury, but larger than from the earth.

The earth, as we know from our geographies, keeps an average distance of about 93,000,000 miles from the sun. That is no small space. Light coming from the sun takes about eight minutes to reach us, and it travels 186,000 miles a second!

Mars is the next planet in distance from the sun. If there are beings with eyes on Mars the sun looks smaller to them than it does to us.

To reach the next planet, Jupiter, we need to travel several hundred million miles farther. From Jupiter the sun would look small indeed.

Saturn and Uranus are farther still from the sun. The light and heat it gives is far less than the earth receives.

The farthest planet of all is Neptune. It is more than 2,700,000,000 miles from the sun. It can be seen in the sky only with the help of a telescope. If there were any people on that probably deep-frozen planet, they would see the sun as a mere dot in the sky.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By EARL MINDERMAN

JULY 2.

THE noted German socialist and writer, Lily Braun, was born this day, 1865. She died in 1916. She was the daughter of General Von Kretschman and was brought up in an atmosphere of Prussian militarism, but married a Socialist professor, George von Gizycki. Later she married Heinrich Braun, Socialist writer and politician.

Madame Braun was a foremost writer in the discussion of the place of women in politics. Her outstanding work is "Memories of a Socialist." This book, cast in the form of a novel, gives a striking account of the German Social Democratic movement at the end of the 19th century. She also wrote "Women's Work and Housework," "Politics and Woman" and "Love Letters of a Marquise."

PRICES GAIN DESPITE CALL FUNDS' FLURRY

UTILITIES SHARES SOAR

New York, July 1 (A.P.).—The stock market failed to take fright at another flurry in call money today, and moved forward vigorously in spots, total sales again crossing the 4,000,000-share mark.

Some profit taking came into the market, particularly in the utilities, as money mounted to 12 per cent soon after midday, after renewing at 10, but almost coincident with a jump to 15 per cent late in the session a vigorous rally set in.

The rails were buoyant throughout the session, some ten issues reaching new high ground in gains reaching a maximum of 8½ points in Delaware & Hudson, and this tended to steady the market. The Associated Press price index of 20 rails rose nearly 2 points, to a record level.

Call Funds Held at 15 Per Cent.

The call money rate was sent soaring by the withdrawal of about $80,000,000 by banks, and it was reported that 20 per cent was bid in the outside market for a short time, but funds soon appeared and it became evident that the official rate would be held at 15 per cent.

A factor in the money pinch was the expiration of rights for approximately $215,000,000 in American Telephone bonds. In addition, the banks, which borrowed heavily at the Federal Reserve Bank last week, required funds for the semiweekly settlement at the reserve institution.

Although this was the most severe flurry in call money since the middle of May, it was not particularly disturbing, as it was accompanied by a further ease in time loans, in which even the shorter maturities commanded a flat rate of 7½ per cent, against 7¼ to 7¾ on Friday.

The statement of the National City Bank in its July bulletin that the midyear money pinch should prove temporary, "as banks have indicated an intention to prevent extreme fluctuations," was highly reassuring. Bankers, however, held out little hope of easier money for the rest of the week, at least.

Day's News Rather Meager.

The day's news was rather meager, the outstanding development being the offer of Anaconda Copper to exchange its stock for shares of Greene Cananea and Andes. Anaconda and Andes, however, sagged a point and more, while Greene Cananea, after selling up more than 6 points, lost much of its gain.

The upturn in the rails appeared to have been based largely on the excellent May earnings reports, the first 66 roads to report showing an aggregate gain of nearly 15 per cent in net operating income over May, 1928. The Wabash trunk line plan was accompanied by only moderate rises in stocks of component roads.

Norfolk & Western rose nearly 7 points to a record price, and Atchison, Atlantic Coast Line, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Frisco mounted 4 points and more to new high ground. New York Central and Pennsylvania advanced about 2 points to record levels.

Otis Spectacular Performer.

Otis Elevator was a spectacular performer, shooting up 29 points to a record price at 400, in anticipation of the rumored 4-for1 split-up. International Business Machines jumped nearly 13 points to a new peak, and General Electric mounted about 10 points to a record price at 335, closing at 331. Air Reduction also made an extreme gain of over 10 points. American Can, Union Carbide, Republic Iron & Steel, and Hershey Chocolate were other issues reaching new high territory. Motors were quiet, save for Packard, which mounted more than 6 points.

In the utilities, North American, Standard Gas and Detroit Edison reached new peaks in gain of 2 points or so, but such issues as American & Foreign Power, American Power & Light, American Water Works, and Brooklyn Union Gas dropped about 3 to 5 points.

An outstanding weak spot was Macy, which dropped more than 19 points, presumably in selling on the good news of the acquisition of L. Bamberger & Co. of Newark. Allis Chalmers, Burroughs, Auburn, Coco Cola, Spicer, Curtis and Western Union were among issues losing 2 to nearly 5 points.

Commodities were irregular, cotton dropping $1 to $2 a bale on bearish crop reports. Wheat advanced slightly on unfavorable Canadian crop reports, while corn sagged.

In the foreign exchange, sterling cables rallied slightly to $4.84 29-32, and the Japanese yen jumped 6-10 of a cent to 44.25.

TILDEN WINS, LOTT BEATEN, IN WIMBLEDON SINGLES

Maj. Van Vliet Holds Army Net Title

1928 Champion Wins Over Lieut. Strahan in Four Sets.

New Yorker Baffled by Versatile Attack of Canal Zone Man.

FOR the third time in four years, Maj. Robert C. Van Vliet, Infantry, of the Panama Canal Zone, won the tennis singles championship of the United States Army when he defeated Lieut. J. W. Strahan, Reserve Corps, New York City, three sets to one yesterday at the Columbia Country Club. The scores were 6—3, 6—4, 3—6, 6—4.

Maj. Van Vliet thus won another leg on the Sheridan Cup, the perpetual trophy emblematic of the singles title, which was presented to him by Maj. Gen. Robert H. Allen, retired, former chief of infantry.

It also was the fourth time in as many successive Army tournaments that the singles championship was won by either Maj. Van Vliet or Lieut. Strahan, the latter having on the honor in 1927.

The match was the hardest fought of the tournament and the burning rays of the sun, combined with the fast pace, sapped the contestants of much stamina. Van Vliet, however, seemed the stronger of the two physically, and it was his advantage in this respect that weighed heavily in his favor toward the last.

Van Vliet Faster and Stronger Volleyer.

Lieut. Strahan relied on a lobbing game for the most part, although occasionally he uncorked some hard driving. He also played from the back court generally, while the champion frequently went up to the net. Van Vliet was much the faster and outclassed the New Yorker in most of the volleying duels, also bringing his speed into good use when returning Strahan's smart placements.

Protracted rallies were few, but the one which stood out was that of the last set when Strahan came back gamely, after Van Vliet needed but 1 point to clinch the match, and overhauled the champion to win the ninth game.

Exhibiting a nice chop which served him well throughout, Van Vliet ran up a 3-to-0 lead in games in the first set. Strahan's backhand, to which Van Vliet continually played, was not functioning well, and the champion benefited from his foe's errors. After a temporary loss of accuracy during which Strahan gathered three games, Van Vliet finished strongly to win the set on two straight.

Strahan ventured up to the net during the second set and scored a couple of well-earned points on sizzling overhead drives, one of which broke his racquet, forcing him to use a substitute with which he was not familiar. Van Vliet had the set within his grasp at a count of 5 to 3 but dropped the ninth game, which was deuced seven times, before finally pulling out, 6 to 4.

Strahan in Game Rally In Fourth Set.

The third set was pretty much Strahan all the way, the challenger inserting several beautiful placements and gaining from Van Vliet's errors. The champion netted the ball for the points which gave Strahan the last three games of this set.

Following a five-minute rest period, Van Vliet resumed play apparently as fresh as at the start of the match, but he momentarily belied the fact by netting returns of soft lobs. This put Strahan out in front, 3 to 1, and inspired him to greater efforts, although the champion snapped back into form as quickly as he had lost it. The next

Marty Gallagher Bout Postponed to Tonight

The boxing bouts, in one of which Marty Gallagher, Washington heavyweight, was to pace Phil Mercurio, New York Italian husky, at Philadelphia last night, have been postponed until tomorrow night. Rain made the Philadelphia National League Park unavailable for the fights last night.

The Gallagher-Mercurio bout is one of preliminaries to the Jimmy Byrne-George Cook main attraction.

Mitchell, Sage of Sandlots, Is Appointed Gonzaga Coach

Capital Youth of 24 Returns to School as Sports Head.

Hugh Miller, Post Staff Photographer.
ORREL MITCHELL.

JAMES ORREL MITCHELL, the smartest quarterback who ever called signals for a Gonzaga High School football team, is returning to his alma mater this fall as head coach, cated by Kenneth Simendinger, who resigned to accept the position of athletic He has been appointed to the post va- director and coach at St. Mary's College, St. Mary's, Kans., it was authoritatively learned yesterday.

In addition to coaching the football team, Mitchell will direct the basketball and baseball teams and teach mathematics.

The selection of Mitchell undoubtedly is popular with the host of Gonzaga students, alumni and well wishers within the Capital, for, although he is only 24 years of age—which makes him the youngest high school coach of the city—Mitchell long since earned an enviable reputation as a coach.

Led Stanton "Gang" to City Football Titles.

Hundreds of local athletes know Orrel (they haven't called him James since he wore knee pants) as the young fellow who several years ago coached the Stanton A. C. football teams to four successive District sandlot championships. Many remember him rather distastefully at that, for having played against him and his Stanton crew.

For four years in a row, Orrell showed the gang of boys that made the Plaza Playground their home the way to win football games. He started with them when he was playing himself, then just a wiry 115-pounder, and though they often were opposed by much heavier teams, their well-planned, smartly executed attack usually brought victory. First winning the championship of the 115-pound division, the Stantons finally captured the crown in the intermediate and 150-pound classes before disbanding.

The name Mitchell was related to many of the notable feats of Gonzaga in athletics during the period 1920-1924. He played quarter back in football, forward in basket ball and third base and shortstop in baseball. He excelled in each sport.

In the fall of 1924 Mitchell enrolled at Georgetown University and after completing half of the freshman term there transferred to Loyola College at Baltimore. While practicing football at the Hilltop, Mitchell received a shoulder injury from whch he never fully recovered, but, nevertheless, while at Loyola he played sensationally in every sport he entered.

Played on Loyola's State Championship Five.

Mitchell performed at guard on the Loyola Maryland State champion basket ball team in the winter of 1925-26. This team clinched the title by beating the crack Washington College quintet on the latter's floor—the first time Washington had lost on its own court in sixteen years.

Mitchell came back to Georgetown the following fall and continued studying there until this spring when he graduated. He did not reenter sports, however.

Both as a player and as a coach, Mitchell has keenly displayed the qualities of leadership. His hard playing, deep sincerity and unflagging spirit won him the strongest faith of his fellow players and pupils.

Nats-Macks Listed for Twin Bill

Rain Causes Double-Header Today; Judge Disappointed.

Grove and Walberg to Face Hadley and Brown on Mound.

Special to The Washington Post.

PHILADELPHIA, July 1. — Manager Walter Johnson and his Nationals hustled here this morning only to learn that they might as well have stayed at home, for, due to rain, their scheduled contest with the Athletics was declared off and a double assignment of work has been listed for tomorrow.

The Nats were quite disappointed at not being able to play today, Capt. Joe Judge expressing the sentiments of his mates when he said: "We finally broke the jinx which the Athletics held over us. We made them look mighty bad yesterday, and had hopes of holding them now that we have them down. This off day might give them a chance to pull themselves together."

For tomorrow's bargain day bill, which is expected to draw a crowd of 25,000, Connie Mack intimated tonight that he would use his two star southpaws, Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove and George (Rube) Walberg. While beating thees two acese is a big order, Manager Johnson is confident that Lloyd Brown and Irving Hadley can do it.

Macks' Stars Showing Signs of Staleness.

Brown has won his last two starts, going the route on both occasions and listing the world champion Yankees as one of his victims. Hadley has been recuperating from complications resulting from the drawing of two infected teeth. When right he always has been poison for the Mackmen and he declares that hard training licks during the past week will have him right tomorrow.

While the Nationals were bemoaning the necessity of idling today, the Philadelphia players welcomed the rest, not because they admit that the Nats, merely because of one victory, have them on a run, but because they have been traveling at a fst clip of late and some of them are showing signs of going stale.

Max Bishop, for instance, has been making too many bobbles of late and the lay-off should help him. While Firstbaseman Jimmy Foxx, Catcher Mickey Cochrane and Leftfielder Al Simmons all are begining to show signs of wear and tear. That Connie Mack realizes this is indicated by his statement tonight that he considered today's postponement as a good break for the Athletics.

Two Devitt Graduates Army Sports Captains

Two Devitt Prep graduates now at West Point have been elected to captain sports teams at the Army school for next fall. Pete King, '26, has been named to lead the boxing team, while Richard O'Keefe, of the same class, is the new lacrosse captain. O'Keefe is a football man also, he having held down the regular quarter back position last season.

Cubs and Cards Tied, 11-11, in 6-Inning Game

St. Louis, Mo., July 1 (A.P.).—The Cardinals and Cubs played a six-inning tie game here today before a ladies' day crowd of 10,000. Each side scored eleven runs before the game was called at the end of the sixth to permit St. Louis to catch a train for Pittsburgh.

Heavy hitting by both teams included two home runs by Stephenson, and another by Blair, Cub recruit. Four Cub errors helped the Cardinals while they were playing errorless ball. Each team used three pitchers.

Almost the Naked Truth

By JAMES S. COLLINS

NEW YORK, July 1 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Bobby Jones did more than defeat Al Espinosa when he crushed the Chicago senor in the national open Sunday. While he was piling up that lead of 23 strokes he was winning more than one golf match yet unplayed. When the next open comes around, Espinosa and all his brother professionals are going to find it hard to forget what this amateur did to them at Winged Foot. It will not help their game any to know that he is on the premises and playing.

Al Espinosa found himself in a tough spot when Jones sunk that final putt. He was the runner-up in a hard-fought tournament and had forced the world's greatest golfer into a play-off to decide the championship, yet there was absolutely no nourishment in the situation for Al. The crushing defeat he sustained at the finish stripped his achievement of most of its glory.

Injunction Against Jones Would Help Professional Business.

Unfortunately, the public is more likely to think of Espinosa as the man who took that terrific drubbing from Jones than as a great golfer who finished in front of all the finest players in the country outside of Atlanta.

Some of the high-salaried professionals who scrambled their shots at Winged Foot are going to have a tough time explaining their failures to the directors of their home clubs. When an amateur shows up a professional in any branch of sport, the consequences to the professional sometimes are dire indeed. The pro is apt to discover that his rating at the box-office and at the cashier's window has undergone downward revision. That is why the golf professionals would whoop joyfully if Mr. Robert T. Jones, jr., announced his permanent retirement from competition. That fellow hurts their business.

Petty's Failure Evens Up Deal for Robinson.

When Glenn Wright showed up at the Robins' training camp this spring with an arm as useless for throwing purposes as the Statue of Liberty's, Wilbert Robinson, the pilot of the club, was put on the pan for some more frying. Previously, when he announced that he had acquired Wright from Pittsburgh in exchange for Jess Petty, all hands appeared to be pleased. Both athletes had become dissatisfied with their surroundings and wanted to be traded. Pittsburgh sorely needed a good left-handed pitcher and it was expected that a shortstop of Wright's caliber would be the making of the Brooklyn infield.

Robinson did not know at the time the trade was made that Wright was disabled, yet when the fact became apparent he was widely deemed a dotard who ought to have a keeper looking after him. But while Mr. Robinson did not know just what he was getting when Pittsburgh unloaded Wright on him, it now appears that he knew what he was getting rid of when he unloaded Petty on Pittsburgh. The silver-thatched ballad singer has been a lamentable bust with the Pirates and seems to be headed for the minors. The Wright-Petty transaction now looks like one deal in which both parties got fixed.

Wright Repays in Part by Recommending Morrison.

Wright, by the way, has not been entirely useless to his employers. While under suspension and vacationing in the Middle West he learned that Johnny Morrison, pitching in the American Association, had recovered much of the stuff that had made him a Pirate star a few years ago. Wright induced the Brooklyn club to buy him and Morrison amply vindicated his judgment. Johnny has been a big help to Robinson. Since Wright is unable to play, it might be a good idea to send him out on the road to see if he can dig up any more like Morrison.

Greatest Welcome Ever Accorded Bobby Jones Planned by Atlantans

ATLANTA, Ga., July 1 (A.P.).—Bobby Jones has been coming home from victorious contests of the golf battle fields for many years and many are the tumultuous greetings that have been accorded him, but today plans were being made to handle the greatest crowd that ever greeted him.

As Bobby boarded a train in New York today homeward bound with his third national open crown, friends here were in caucus planning a greater reception than was accorded on his return from two victorious conquests in the British open.

Scott Hudson, president of the Atlanta Athletic Club, on whose East Lake course Bobby grew to the golf championship, today already had a royal feast ordered and other plans in which the general public will participate were going forward rapidly.

In the crowd that will greet the returning conqueror tomorrow will be great and near great of Atlanta, golfers, good, bad and indifferent, and folks who would not know a putter from a niblick, but all with one intent—giving Bobby the greatest welcome ever accorded him.

Jones was congratulated on his victory in the open in a resolution adopted unanimously today by the Georgia House of Representatives. The legislators voted for the measure with a vim. It was introduced by Representative Huddleston, of Meriwether County.

Schmeling to Fight In 25 Cities on Tour

New York, July 1 (U.P.)—Max Schmeling will show his wares to American and Canadian fight fans from coast to coast on a six-week barnstorming tour beginning Monday, July 8, the German heavyweight's manager, Joe Jacobs announced today.

The conqueror of Paolino Uzcudun, who with Jack Sharkey, of Boston, shares the role of leading heavyweight contender, will appear in 25 cities, giving boxing exhibitions against a troupe of sparring partners which he will carry with him. Schmeling turned down several theatrical and vaudeville offers in order to make the tour.

William McCarney, who accompanied Jack Dempsey, Jess Willard and Luis Firpo on similar tours, will conduct the German's tour.

YANKEES WIN ON CLOUT BY PASCHAL

Pinch Hitter Drives Out Homer to Beat Red Sox, 3-2.

NEW YORK, July 1 (A.P.).—The pinch-hitting prowess of Ben Paschal enabled the Yankees to nose out the Boston Red Sox today by a 3-to-2 score. Paschal was sent in to hit for Herb Pennock in the seventh inning after Koenig had doubled and came through with a home run into the left field stands that spelled victory. Koenig came into the game after Durocher had been ejected for disputing a called third strike.

The game was a pitching duel between Pennock and Billy Bayne, who had gained two decisions over the Yanks this season. Bayne had the edge up to the seventh due to Pennock's shaky start, which gave the Red Sox two runs in the first. He allowed but five hits up to the seventh, while Pennock and his successor, Lefty Heimach, gave but six altogether.

President to Witness Legion Finals Opener

President Hoover will be one of the many interested spectators expected to witness the opening game of the Eastern sectional championship tournament of the American Legion junior baseball series in Griffith Stadium here August 20, the District department officials have been informed by Dan Sowers, national director. The Eastern finals will be played here August 20, 21 and 22.

During his recent visit here, Sowers visited the President and found the Nation's Executive very much in sympathy with the baseball program being staged by the American Legion in conjunction with the American and National leagues. The President has notified Sowers that he has accepted the invitation to attend the first game.

The occasion will mark the first time that any of the important legion games have been played here. The championship teams of all regional tournaments East of the Mississippi will compete in a down-and-out tourney. The survivor will meet the Western champion in September in a junior "world series."

U. S. Veteran Now Faces Cochet

Borotra and Austin in Second Semifinals at Wimbledon.

French Ace Beats Lott; "Big Bill" Conquers Landry in 4 Sets.

By FRANK H. KING
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

WIMBLEDON, England, July 1 (A.P.).—Bill Tilden fought his way into the semifinals of the Wimbledon tennis tournament today, but a younger American, George Lott, fell victim to a tricolor racquet.

In an even break for the French and American forces, Jean Borotra, the aging but still agile "bounding Basque," eliminated Lott in a quarter final match by scores of 6—3, 6—3, 6—4, shortly after Tilden had defeated Pierre Landry, one of the lesser lights of France, 6—4, 2—6, 6—3, 7—5. The current battle with the French is just beginning for Tilden as he meets his old rival, Henri Cochet, in a semifinal duel tentatively set for Wednesday.

With Cochet favored over Tilden and with Borotra the logical choice over H. W. Austin, the youthful Englishman who won the other berth among the last surviving four. The advance dope points to an all-French final in men's singles, while in the women's division it begins to look as if two Americans might meet for the championship.

Three American Women In Semifinal Round.

The famous Helens of the United States—Miss Wills, the champion, and Miss Jacobs—both came through to the semifinals in impressive style today, and a third Californian, Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, also is still in the running. Mrs. Bundy, winner of the title 24 years ago, and Miss Joan Ridley, of England, meet tomorrow in the only quarter final singles match yet to be played.

Miss Wills won without great difficulty today from Miss "Bobby" Heine, of South Africa, 6—2, 6—4, although her opponent led in games in the second set for a brief moment. Even more easily, Miss Jacobs advanced to the tune of 6—1, 6—0, at the expense of Mrs. C. G. McIlquham, Englishwoman, who last week spilled Senorita Ella de Alvarez of Spain. England gained one of the semifinal berths when Miss Elsie Goldsack downed Miss Ruth Tapscott, South Africa, 6—2, 6—3.

Principal interest today centered on the renewal of Franco-American warfare in the men's singles division There were plenty fireworks in the Tilden-Landry match before Big Bill, who last year was carried to five sets by the same player, finally won in four.

RULE B

Landry Fresher Than Tilden At End of Their Match.

Landry, usually more successful at Wimbledon than on French courts, seemed to return Tilden's shots with uncanny ease and at the end of the match the Frenchman was less exhausted physically than the tall American.

The Frenchman was within a point of winning the fourth set, leading Tilden by 5—4 and 40-love, but Big Bill recovered, deuced the score, won the game, and carried the next two for the set and match.

In the second big semifinal, Lott fell in straight sets before a characteristic display of dazzling all-court coverage, spectacular smashes and fiery drives from the racquet of the bounding Borotra.

Cochet won from Hans Timmer, of Holland, by scores of 6—4, 7—5, 6—2 in a tame match that clearly demonstrated the Frenchman's superiority Only at critical junctures did Cochet produce his best game against the steady, but uninspiring Dutch baseliner. Varying his pace, speed and direction, the Frenchman always held the upper hand.

In the fourth semifinal match, the

CAYUGA ROMPS TO VICTORY IN ARLINGTON FEATURE

Sprint Stake Is Gallop for Winner

Greenock Second, Ten Lengths Behind, in $8,750 Race.

Volunteer, Winner, 1 of 2 to Finish in New York Jump Race.

ARLINGTON PARK, Ill., July 1 (A.P.).—The Shadybrook Farm's 4-year-old Cayuga, under a good ride by Jockey P. Neal, won the American National Handicap, a sprint of six furlongs for 3-year-olds and up. Greenock, from V. Sutro's Stable, was second, and Double Heart, from the Three D's Stable, was third. Twelve horses traveled the distance.

Cayuga, coupled in the betting with "the field," was away well. Jockey Neal quickly took his mount into the lead, and, increasing his advantage at every pole, won with much speed in reserve by ten lengths. Greenock, away slowly and slightly outrun in the first three furlongs, gradually worked his way up to take the second money by three lengths. Double Heart, away well and never far back, but on the inside, made a bid at the head of the stretch, but could not hold on, and finished third by two lengths. Golden Prince, away very slowly, closed an immense gap to take the small end of the purse by a length and a half.

Twelve horses ran. The race was worth $8,750. Cayuga paid his backers $5.26 for a $2 ticket.

Bridegroom, 11 to 5, Scores In Aquaduce Stakes.

Aqueduct Race Track, July 1 (A.P.).—The final week of racing on Long Island for the summer began here today. On Friday the ponies go to Empire City track for twenty days. The feature of the card was the Myrtle Claiming stakes, at one mile, and it was won by the good thing, Bridegroom, 11 to 5, with Negopoli second and Wonderful third. The latter jumped into the lead early and, displaying good speed, led the final furlong, where Bridegroom came with a rush on the outside and won, going away by a length and a half. Negopoli beat Wonderful a head for the place. The winner earned $3,925.

Volunteer scored a very easy victory in the steeplechase. He only had to gallop over the course to win. It was practically a walk over after Hillock and Polish fell at the third fence. The race promised a good contest, but at the third jump Hillock made a bad landing and fell and Polish, which was directly behind him, fell over Hillock. Lambert, who rode Hillock, got up and walked back, while Benford, who was up on Polish, was rushed back to the jockeys' quarters in the paddock, where he received first-aid treatment. Volunteer won by 200 lengths over Leonardeau.

Martinique Romps to Victory In Handicap at Latonia.

Latonia Race Track, Ky., July 1 (A.P.), D. E. Stewart's 4-year-old, Martinique, captured the Sinton Hotel Handicap, a gallop of a mile and a sixteenth for 3-year-olds and upward. Royal Julian, from the W. H. Whitehouse Stable, was second, and Broadside, from L. B. Combs' Stable, was third. Seven horses started.

Martinique, under a good ride by Jockey C. E. Allen, who luckily escaped injury in the fourth race when Choiseul fell, was taken into the lead at the start and, increasing her advantage at every pole, won easily by four lengths. Royal Julian, away fast, was sent into contention at once, moved up under restraint at the 6-furlong pole, and continuing well through the stretch drive took the place money by a length and a half. Broadside, away slowly, ran an even race to the stretch, where, under urging, he finished third by a length and a half.

The race was worth $1,300 to the winner and Martinique paid her backers $5.12 for a $2 ticket.

The races were run over a muddy track.

ARLINGTON PARK RESULTS.

FIRST RACE—Five and one-half furlongs; purse, $1,200; maidens; 2-year-olds; colts and geldings. Sweet Sentiment, 113 (L. Morris), 6.80, 2.70, 2.40. Marie Bellere, 113 (C. McCrossen), 5.56, 6.14. Plucky Play, 115 (H. Erickson), 16.52. Time, 1:14. Little Rider, Sir Argo, Roughneck, Blackbird, Thistle Boy and Tasmania also ran.

four games went to the title holder on shots to the far corners, which chased Strahan back and forth so much that he became almost exhausted.

It was here, strangely enough, that Strahan staged his game rally, countering with placements the ultimate winner missed by yards. This gained Strahan the ninth game and brought him within one game of tying the set, but in attempting another of these shots in the succeeding game the New Yorker drove outside for the point ending the match.

The semifinals in doubles will be held today. In the first match, starting at 2 o'clock, Maj. Hobbs and Maj. Hills, will oppose Lieut. Sherburne and Lieut. Robinson. The second, commencing at 3:30, will find Van Vliet and Maj. Finley crossing racquets with Col. Johnson and Lieut. Hedekin.

youthful Austin scored for Britain over Baron von Kehrling, of Hungary, 6—2 8—6, 6—3. Although he is popularly supposed to lack stamina, Austin showed remarkable powers of recovery in winning the second set after trailing at 1—5.

Miss Wills and Hunter Win Mixed Doubles Match.

Austin has a fine string of scalps in this tournament, having defeated Frank Hunter and Jaques Brugnon, among others, and English fans believe he has a fighting chance against Borotra.

The tall, athletic South African girl, Miss Heine, who approaches Miss Wills in both comeliness and tennis skill, was the first who has been able to make a match with the champion even close enough to be interesting. It was all of that today, particularly when the American was trailing at 2—3 in the second set and her opponent was driving powerfully and accurately, scoring numerous placements.

The result was never in doubt, however, after Miss Wills made use of some of the speediest of her drives, ending with one that knocked the racquet from Miss Heine's hand.

In other matches today, Miss Wills and Frank Hunter defeated Mrs. John Hill and G. P. Hughes, of England, 6—3, 6—2, in mixed doubles, and John Hennessey, Indianapolis, and Miss Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, Mass., were eliminated, 6—0, 5—7, 6—1, by a team consisting of R. Malcolm, of South Africa, and Miss D. Cole, of England.

Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, of the American Davis Cup Team, trimmed Jan Kozeluh, Czechoslovakia and E. D. Andrews, former New Englander, 6—2, 6—4, 6—2.

MRS. GLAVIS TOPS PUBLIC PARK GOLF QUALIFIERS

Medal Round Won With 92 Card

Mrs. Hird Runner-Up Two Strokes Back; Match Play Today.

Atractive Holiday Program Is Listed for July 4th.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

MRS. EVELYN GLAVIS yesterday led the field of women golfers who competed in the annual women's public links championship played on the Rock Creek Park course. She had a creditable score of 45—47—92 played in two rounds on course A, two strokes lower than the 94 on the card of Mrs. H. B. Hird, of the Manor Club. Mrs. Glavis played the first nine in even 5s, despite three 6s and a 7, and in the second round came to the eighth tee two under 5s. Unfortunately she finished the last two holes in an 8 and a 6. Mrs. Hird missed a putt of not over four inches of the ninth hole of the second round.

Two sixteens qualified and the match play round on courses A and B is scheduled for any day this week. The pairings and scores are as follows:

FIRST SIXTEEN—Mrs. Evelyn Glavis, 92, vs. Mrs. Frank Mitchell, 104; Miss Peggy Wooton, 102, vs. Miss June Sterling, 108; Miss Ivy Stevens, 103, vs. Nita Burzer, 109; Mrs. Marion Holland, 98, vs. Mrs. J. O. Rhyne, 105; Mrs. H. B. Hird, 94, vs. Mrs. E. M. McClelland, 105; Miss Rosella Voke, 103, vs. Miss Genevieve Wimsatt, 109; Mrs. Frank Summy, 103, vs. Miss Esther Barnes, 109; Miss J. F. Dalgleish, 116, vs. Mrs. Huston Harper, 122; Mrs. J. T. Powell, 115, vs. Mrs. J. W. Beasley, 118.

While all the local golf clubs have arranged attractive programs for Fourth of July, unusual interest will attach to the competition at the Washington Golf and Country Club. Some time ago Maseyuki Tani, when first secretary of the Japanese Embassy, was a member of the club, but since being recalled home, has not forgotten his old associations.

The club has received from him a magnificent solid silver cigarette case, beautifully chased and inlaid, and an exquisite example of the handiwork of Japanese artists. It has been decided to offer this prise in competition next Thursday to the player who, with handicap allowance, battles most successfully in match play against par. The trophy will prove an incentive to the best game of the members.

Events at the various clubs will be as follows:

ARGYLE—Flag tournament, 18 holes, handicap.

BANNOCKBURN—Flag tournament, 18 holes, handicap.

BEAVER DAM—President's cup competition, 18 holes, medal play, handicap, with driving, approaching and putting contests for men and women.

CHEVY CHASE—Match play against par, 18 holes, handicap.

COLUMBIA—Best ball played in foursomes, partners to be allowed full handicap, 18 holes, first round only to count.

INDIAN SPRING—Miniature tournament, qualification and match play, 9 holes.

MANOR—Tombstone tournament, putting contest for men and women.

TOWN AND COUNTRY—Flag tournament for Marc Goldnamer cup.

WASHINGTON GOLF AND COUNTRY—Match play against par, 18 holes, handicap allowance.

Hawk Nine Survives Mutiny, Adding 6 Players to Roster

FOLLOWING a "break" within the ranks which completely disrupted the Brentwood Hawks Nine of the Capital City League and caused considerable ill-feeling among the baseball fans of Mt. aRinier and Brentwood, the Hawks have reorganized and will continue their schedule under the management of Frank G. Ellison. Six new players have been added to the team roster and the players responsible for the dissention which caused Manager Ellison to resign and later resume charge of the team have been released.

At a meeting of several of the players last week, Manager Ellison was voted out as pilot of the club and Sammy Hook, star second baseman, was named as his successor. Ellison resigned, but later learned that it was not the wish of the majority of his players that he do so. The situation reached a climax last Sunday, when the Hawks appeared on the field ready to meet the Miller Aztecs. Those interested in the change of management approached members of the team and persuaded several to refuse to play under Ellison's management. As a result the Hawks took a terrific beating from the Miller Aztecs.

Police On Scene as Fans Boo Former Favorites.

Fearing that trouble might develop during the course of the game Sunday, police protection was requested and two officers were at hand throughout the game to prevent a clash between the warring factions. No disturbances were created, although some of the fans favorable to a change in management continually booed their former favorites. One of the Mount Rainier citizens who earlier in the season graciously lpresented the club with severa benches and foul-line flags became disgruntled over the dismissal of several players and uprooted his benches and flags from the field.

When the Hawks meet the Mount Rainier Nine, old rival, Thursday in the first of their annual clashes the rejuvenated Hawk Team will have several new faces in the line-up. Jules Sorrell, former Tech High catcher, has been signed. Richard Turner, Julius Forrest, Sam Miller, John Demarest and W P. Wilson are among the newcomers.

Cardinals With Win Streak Meet Hawks Sunday.

Players retained by Manager Ellison include La Vere Kopp, R. B. Curry, Vincent Ganley, Johnny Wanley, Claude Simpson, Gordon Albee, Harry Kaske, Garth Garnett, Stanley O'Donnell, Alfred Bellman and Harry Ensor.

The National Press Building Cardinals will visit Brentwood Sunday to engage the Hawks in an important Capital City League fray. The Cards are riding in second place, with six straight wins to their credit, while the Hawks are tied for third with the Auths and anxious to get back at the top of the heap.

Clay Court Net Opening Postponed to Today

Indianapolis, July 1 (A.P.).—Rain today caused a postponement until tomorrow of the opening matches of the National Clay Court tennis championship tournament here. As a result of the delay it was decided that early round matches would be two out of three sets, instead of three out of five.

JEFFERSONS PRACTICE.

Jefferson Fire Dapertment tossers will drill today at 5:30 o'clock on the Virginia Highland diamond in preparation for Sunday's game with Bolling Field.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Alexandria, Va., July 1.—The Alexandria Municipal Playground Midget League got under way yesterday on Haydon Field with a seven-inning game, in which the St. Mary's Midgets defeated the Colonials handily. To Barnett, hurler for the St. Mary's, goes the honors, he having allowed his opponents but two hits and no runs, while his teammates were garnering twelve hits and half as many runs off the delivery of Dolph for the Colonials. Mayor William Albert Smoot tossed out the first ball and took occasion to compliment the boys on their fine spirit in entering the competition.

Outside of the pitching of Barnett, the work of Pullman was the feature of the game, as the youngster hit three times safely in four trips to the plate, and played errorless ball at short.

The score:

London, July 1 (A.P.).—Lady Astor was today asked to become the first president of the Women's International Amateur Rowing Association formed here by the Women's Rowing Association of England.

Australia, Egypt, France, Germany, Poland, Hungary and Roumania signified their intention of joining the new international association. Oarswomen of other nations were invited to become affiliated with it.

Bennett, Big Ten Ace, Missing at West Point

West Point, N. Y., July 1 (A.P.).—When Military Academy authorities checked over the list of some 400 newcomers to West Point today they found no trace of "Chuck" Bennett, University of Indiana half-back and all-Western conference star, whose candidacy for entry here attracted widespread attention last fall.

Not only was Bennett's name missing when the roll was called, but a check revealed no evidence that he had taken the required examinations for admission to the academy. In fact, officers said they could find no one in the new plebe class conspicuous for any previous football or other athletic achievements.

Bennett, after closing his career at Indiana by being officially recognized as the most valuable player to any big ten eleven, was listed for appointment to West Point as an alternate, but evidently changed his plans.

HISERS FACE FOUR GAMES.

In preparation for four games over the week-end, the Hisers's All Star Nine will practice tomorrow on the Riverdale diamond at 6 o'clock. Thursday the Dixie Pigs are listed in a double-header, while Sunday the Berwyn A. C. will be met in two games. Both sets will be played on the Riverdale diamond beginning at 2 o'clock.

Manager Hiser requests Fox and Slanker, who played with the Shrine Nine last Saturday, to phone him today at Bradley 671 after 7 o'clock.

Columbus Team Seeks Jones, Fairmont Star

Special to The Washington Post.

Fairmont, W. Va., July 1.—Pete Jones, shortstop of the Black Diamonds of the Middle Atlantic League, may go to the Columbus Senators of the American Association within the next few days, it was made known by local directors. Joe Doringer, president of the local club, was in Columbus to talk over the proposition. Columbus, in search of a new infielder, sent a scout to Wheeling to look over the Fairmont Club, and the work of Jones was so impressive that the AA club immediately opened negotiations for the Fairmont star.

Eddie Vachereese, all-around star of West Virginia University, is expected to take the place of Jones should he go to Columbus.

CONVERTIBLE BONDS AGAIN MOVE WIDELY

Prices Elsewhere Hold Steady Course—Time Money 7½ Per Cent.

RAIL ISSUES NEGLECTED

New York, July 1 (A.P.).—Bond prices held to a steady course today, showing little variation from the previous close, except in the convertible group which fluctuated widely in sympathy with shifts in the stock market.

The recent resistance of pivotal obligations to a further decline was maintained and was strengthened, at least technically, by the appearance of 7½ per cent time money for all maturities, the lowest in months. However, the boost in the call money charge kept commitments at a minimum in all but the share privilege issues.

Convertibles moved within wide ranges. Sharp advances of from 3 to 6 points at the opening in such issues as Atchison 4½s and the two active 4½s per cent telephone obligations was followed around midday by a reaction which continued throughout the afternoon. However, most of the stock option bonds were able to show net gains for the session. International Telephones mounting a point to the new high, 158; Atchison 4½s soaring 2 to 132½, also a new high, and Missouri Pacific 5½s finishing at 115½, a peak, on a net advance of 1¾.

The American Telephone debenture after moving within a 4-point range, sold off to 145¾ for a loss of 1½. Rights of stockholders to purchase this bond at par expired today, and it was announced that virtually all the $219,000,000 issue had been taken.

Unusually heavy buying sent American International convertible 5½s up 3 points to 111, equaling the year's top. Good support also was given to the two Allegheny Corporation 5s, the recently listed 1949 issue making new high ground at 101.

Transactions in the remainder of the list were spread over a thin market, with quotations showing only fractional changes in virtually all of the pivotal issues. Bethlehem Steel refunding 5s proved a soft spot, dipping to the new 1929 low of 97¾, but rallying to close at 98, where the year's minimum was duplicated. Rubber company bonds showed some strength, and B. F. Goodrich 6½s, Goodyear Tire & Rubber 5s, and U. S. Rubber 5s made fair gains. Oil issues, led by Standard of New York 4½s with a 3½-point rise, also improved.

Rails generally found a negligible demand. Chicago & East Illinois 5s and New Haven refunding 4½s struck new bottom prices on losses of 1 and 3¾, respectively. Western Maryland 5½s lost nearly 2 points. First-grade mortgages were steady.

Foreign bonds and the United States Governments ruled steady to higher on nominal changes. Gains in the Liberties and Treasury certificates were general, but held to the smaller fractions.

NEW PAPER MONEY READY FOR RELEASE

Will Not Affect Credit Situation, Says Officials of Treasury.

STOCK TRADING EXPANDS

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Release of the new small-sized paper currency next week will not be in an amount great enough to materially affect the credit situation, it was pointed out at the Treasury yesterday. Admitting there might be a slight increase in circulation due to a curiosity demand, Treasury officials reminded that the new currency circulated would be in bills of small denomination.

Informed of reported objections on the part of certain banks to handling both the old-sized and new-sized currency at the same time, Secretary Mellon expressed the opinion that those possessing the money will know how to take care of it.

Gains in Loans and Investments.

Gains of $109,000,000 in loans and investments, $78,000,000 in net demand deposits, $39,000,000 in time deposits and $41,000,000 in borrowings from Federal Reserve banks were shown in the Federal Reserve Board's condition statement of weekly reporting member banks in 101 leading cities July 26.

Loans on securities which at all reporting banks were $155,000,000 above the June 19 total, increased $157,000,000 in the New York district, $16,000,000 in the Cleveland district, and $11,000,000 in that of Richmond, in which the District of Columbia is included.

They declined $13,000,000 in the Chicago district and $11,000,000 in the district of San Francisco. "All other" loans increased $14,000,000 in the Boston district, and declined $22,000,000 in the Chicago district, $16,000,000 in the New York district, and $20,000,000 at all reporting banks.

Holdings of United States Government securities declined $40,000,000 at all reporting banks, $10,000,000 in the New York district, $8,000,000 in the San Francisco district and $6,000,000 in the Cleveland district. Holdings of other securities advanced $6,000,000 each in the Boston and Atlanta districts, and $14,000,000 at all reporting banks.

Net demand deposits of all reporting banks were $78,000,000 above the June 19 total, reporting banks in the New York and Cleveland districts showing increases of $80,000,000 and $14,000,000, respectively, while reporting banks in the San Francisco district showed a decline of $24,000,000.

Time deposits increased $19,000,000 in the New York district, $9,000,000 in the San Francisco district, $7,000,000 in that of Atlanta, and $39,000 000 at all reporting banks. The principal changes in borrowings from the Federal Reserve Banks for the week comprise increases of $62,000,000 at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and of $15,000,000 at Philadelphia, and decreases of $15,000,000 each at Chicago and San Francisco, and of $6,000,000 each at Atlanta and Kansas City.

Business at Seasonal Level.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond reported yesterday that May business in the fifth Federal Reserve District was at approximately seasonal level. Business failures in the district during the month were less numerous, and liabilities involved were lower than in May a year ago, the district record being better than the national record in both number of insolvencies and total liabilities involved.

Retail trade was in larger volume than in May, 1928, but wholesale trade was not satisfactory, falling in volume below April, 1929 and May, 1928. A seasonal decrease in rediscounts for member banks held by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond occurred last month, the total amount held declining from $56,531,000 on May 15 to $54,783,000 on June 15.

Total earning assets of the Richmond Reserve Bank declined during the same period from $63,608,000 to $63,451,000, the decrease in earning assets being less than the drop in rediscounts because of larger holdings of Government securities at the middle of June than a month earlier.

June Securities Sales Heavy.

June sales of the bonds and securities offered by the F. H. Smith Co. were among the largest in the 56 years the Washington investment house has been in existence, it was announced yesterday by Daniel R. Crissinger, chairman of the executive committee of the company.

Commenting on the growing demand among investors for reliable securities with a reasonable return, Mr. Crissinger, who was formerly governor of the Federal Reserve Board and formerly Comptroller of the Currency, said, "Although a wave of speculation has been sweeping the country, there are thousands of investors and their number is increasing daily who prefer good, safe securities with a reasonable return and the peace of mind that goes with them as a medium of investment."

Galliher's Death Regretted.

Sorrow prevailed throughout the financial district yesterday at news of the death of William T. Galliher, chairman of the board of directors, Federal-American National Bank. A prominent personage in banking circles for years, Mr. Galliher leaves many friends in the domain of banking and business throughout the city.

His counsel an' enterprise will be missed not only in financial and mercantile spheres, but in the District of Columbia Bankers Association for the welfare, of which he labored unceasingly. It was during the recent convention of the association at Montauk Beach, N. Y., that he was taken ill.

Trading Volume Advanced.

Advances in trading volume of both stock and bond divisions were shown in the opening session of the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday, the bond transactions total $8,500, being a gain of $900 over the closing session last week and the aggregate stock turnover of 493 shares exceeding Friday's sales by 55.

Business of the stock division was swelled by activity in Washington Railway & Electric preferred, which sold in five blocks totaling 310 shares, at 96, fractional advance from last sale price. National Mortgage & Investment preferred followed, 88 shares changing hands 4⅞, fractional recession.

Heaviest bond sales were recorded in the Washington Gas issues $1,000 of the 5s transferring at 99½, fractional loss; $3,000 of the As at fractional advances from 101⅜ and $1,000 of the Bs at 104, last sale figure.

ANDERSON REPLIES TO BYRD'S CHARGES

Says He Based $160,000,000 Expenditure Estimate on 1927 Report.

TAKES ISSUE ON TERMS

Richmond, Va., July 1 (A.P.).—Henry W. Anderson today replied to Gov. Byrd's charges of gross misrepresentation of tax figures in Anderson's keynote address to the Republican convention by defending his estimate of $160,000,000 as the expenditures of the Byrd administration and declaring the statute limiting inheritance tax to $4,000,000 was still operative.

Anderson said the statute limiting the inheritance tax to $4,000,000 on any estate was reenacted by the legislature in 1928. Gov. Byrd and C. H. Morrissett, State tax commissioner, in statements following Anderson's Republican keynote address, declared that the law had been inoperative since 1926 and had never applied to a single case.

Taking up the estimate of $160,000,000 as the expenditures of the Byrd administration, the Republican keynoter explained that he obtained this estimate by multiplying by four years the auditor's report for 1927.

He then took issue with Gov. Byrd as to what constitutes State expenditures, insisting that moneys collected by the State from the people and disbursed to the counties was a State expenditure. Gov. Byrd had said that this could in no sense be regarded as a State expenditure, as the State merely served as a collecting agency for the counties and had nothing to do with the expenditure of the money.

Anderson also insisted that the amount received from the Federal Government for highway construction, included in the figures he quoted as State expenditures, was rightly placed in this category.

Two "Black Hand" Suspects Ousted

Clarksburg Police Dump Pair in Nearby State With Warning.

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., July 1.—Two men characterized by deputy sheriffs and State police as suspected members of a "Black Hand" organization that lately had been trying to regain a foothold in Clarksburg were taken in an automobile from the county jail this afternoon and dumped in an adjoining State with warnings never to set foot in this city again.

The men were registered as Antonio Ammendalio, 29, and Pasquale Cristo, 29, both of whom were arrested at Glen Elk spaghetti houses and jailed as suspicious characters following three weeks' investigation of secret meetings here at which, it was declared, efforts were made to revive the Mafia in the city. The gathering was attended by known professional killers from other cities, police said.

Following a series of assassinations and other crimes, a "Black Hand" organization was broken up here in 1923 when four men were hanged at Moundsville. Several others were sentenced to long prison terms.

FIFTH RESERVE AREA EMPLOYMENT GOOD

Richmond Bank Finds Output of Coal and Consumption of Cotton Gaining.

REVIEWS MAY'S BUSINESS

Richmond, Va., July 1 (A.P.).—Employment conditions, on the whole, are good, coal production showed an increase and cotton consumption increased in the Fifth Federal Reserve District during May, according to the monthly review of business conditions issued by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond today.

Regarding employment the review said: "On the whole, employment conditions in the Fifth Reserve District are good, although there are some groups of workers in which a number of persons are involuntarily idle. Skilled workers in the building trades are well employed, and industrial employes are nearly all at work, but in clerical lines the supply of workers is greater than the demand in most of the cities.

"Tobacco plants in the Fifth District are using more workers than ever before, and many new industries are taking additional factory hands. On the other hand, some textile mills are beginning to curtail operations one or two days per week, which is reducing pay rolls, but no mills are closed entirely except a few in which there are strikes. * * *"

Concerning coal production, the review said: "The total production of soft coal during the month of May amounted to approximately 40,172,000 net tons, as against 38,888,000 tons in the shorter month of April and 36,624,000 in May last year. On a daily production basis, May, 1929, also went ahead of both April this year and May last year. The total production of bituminous coal in the United States this calendar year to June 8 (approximately 165 working days) totaled 228,405,000 net tons, a higher figure than 207,312,000 tons mined to the same date in 1928, but less than 248,684,000 tons in 1927, and 264,739,000 tons in 1926. * * *"

As to textiles, the review said, "Cotton consumed in Fifth district mills in May, 1929, totaled 283,623 bales, of which North Carolina mills used 154,773 bales, South Carolina mills 117,953 bales, and Virginia mills 10,987 bales. May consumption in the district exceeded 262,706 bales used in April, 1929, and was also larger than 250,698 bales used in May, 1928. May's consumption in the Carolinas and Virginia totaled 42.4 per cent of national consumption. The situation in the textile field appears to be spotted, with some mills operating full time on forward orders while others are beginning to accumulate manufactured goods in their warehouses.

MAN GOES ON TRIAL IN KILLING OF WIFE

Defense Attorneys Lose Plea to Quash King Case as It Begins.

BITTER LEGAL FIGHT SEEN

Chester S. C., July 1 (A.P.).—Rafe F. King, 37, today went on trial in Chester County Criminal Court on the charge of slaying his 24year-old wife, Fay Wilson King. Forty minutes after the case formally got under way a jury of merchants, farmers, mechanics and salesmen was chosen and testimony was started immediately after lunch hour.

The case, expected to be one of the hardest fought legal battles in the history of South Carolina criminal courts, proceeded with startling swiftness. Judge J. K. Henry, who invariably opens court with prayer by a minister, soon after calling the case overruled a motion of the defense for quashing of the indictment because it charges King with killing his wife in a number of ways.

The evidence in the case is expected to be largely circumstantial. Mrs. King was found dead in an outhouse near her home in Sharon, S. C. King had reported to neighbors that she had failed to return from the Sharon High School, where she tought French and a search had been started. The coroner rendered a verdict of suicide, but a later inquiry resulted in the murder charge against King, member of a wealthy Shelby (N. C.) family. He has been free on bond.

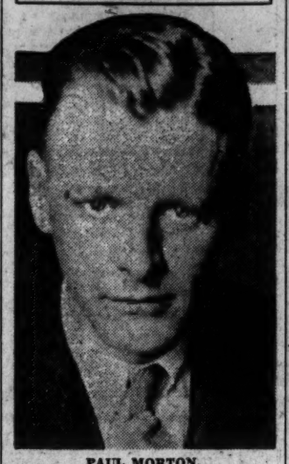
The witnesses this afternoon were in large measure put on the stand by the State to prove the death of Mrs. King and to lay the foundation for later undisclosed phases of the case. The testimony dealt almost entirely with details such as the distance from the outhouse to the King home.

The jury, chosen in 40 minutes, consists of the following:

R. L. Crook, Chester, cotton dealer; G. W. Anderson, Chester, farmer; Frank L. Whitlock, Chester, insurance agent; Fred W. Caseells, Chester, mechanic; James L. Gamble, Great Falls, merchant; H. B. Workman, Chester, local yard employe; S. E. Reeves, Chester, merchant; H. G. Hitchcock, Edgemoor, merchant; Clyde Killian, Lansford, farmer; John Jordan, farmer, Chester, and James C. Simpson, Chester, carpenter.

Harry Hines, newly appointed solicitor, was sworn in today, suceeding J. Lyle Glenn, who resigned to become Federal judge.

NEW OFFICIAL



PAUL MORTON, who assumed his duties yesterday as city manager at Petersburg.

PAUL MORTON TAKES POST IN PETERSBURG

RECEIVES MANY FLOWERS

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., July 1.—The first official act of Paul S. Morton upon beginning his duties as city manager here today was to send a fireman-chauffeur back to duty, and announce that he would be his own chauffeur.

Mr. Morton was recently elected by the city council at a salary of $8,000 a year. He is the third city manager that Petersburg has had. The first was Louis Brownlow, who resigned to become city manager at Knoxville, Tenn. He was succeeded by Dr. William A. Drewry, who resigned when the council reduced the salary of the office from $10,000 to $5,000.

The new city manager was the recipient of numerous floral tributes. Mayor R. T. Wilson and other city officials visited the city manager during the morning. He held numerous conferences with department heads during the afternoon.

One of the first official acts of the new city manager after taking over the office today was to address a communication to Director of Public Safety Dutrow, requesting that T. R. Garrett, of the fire department, again be put on active duty, as he, Morton, expected to drive the car himself provided for the city manager by the council. Garrett, who has been a member of the fire department for some time, drove the official car for Dr. William F. Drewry, former city manager, and for E. P. Goodwyn, retiring acting city manager.

SUSPECT CONFESSES TO ROBBERY OF BANK

Fred Stauffer Admits Holdup at Maugansville and Implicates Aid.

ACCOMPLICE'S TRAIL LOST

Hagerstown, Md., July 1.—Fred A. Stauffer, one of two suspected of complicity in the robbery of the Maugansville (Md.) Bank last Wednesday, today surrendered to the police here and confessed having participated in the holdup. He named Paul R. Hesson, accused previously by the police, as his accomplice. Stauffer is a 20-year-old silk weaver, and has no previous police record.

Hesson has not yet been apprehended. He has been traced as far as Youngstown, Ohio, where the trail disappeared.

Stauffer, in his confession, said that he and Hesson suddenly decided to hold up the bank while motoring last Wednesday. As Hesson held the cashier, C. Edward Riggs, alone at the time, at bay with a revolver, Stauffer said he vaulted the counter, scooped up the money and struck Riggs in the head with a rubber mallet. They both jumped into Hesson's car and disappeared. The money and two revolvers, one of them taken from the bank drawer, were hidden while the pair were returning by a circuitous route to this city. Stauffer said he has been staying at the home of relatives and has not seen Hesson since he left the machine on the outskirts of this city an hour after the robbery.

Merle Sollonberger, of Chambersburg, Pa., told the police that Hesson came to his home in the Pennsylvania town Thursday night and remained there until Saturday morning, when he took a bus for Youngstown, Ohio. Friday night he borrowed Sollenberger's car and, with members of Sollenberger's family, drove to near the scene of the robbery and left the car. It is believed by police that he came back to get the money that was hidden. The revolver taken from the bank was found Saturday morning lying in the road in front of the bank, and the police think Hesson dropped it there on his way back to Chambersburg.

Stauffer has indicated his desire to waive a preliminary hearing and plead guilty.

Abduction Charge Holds Baltimorean

Arrested at Essex in Company With Girl, 17, He Tells of Marriage Plans.

Special to The Washington Post.

Chestertown, Md., July 1.—Edward Hodges, 22, of Baltimore, who gave his address as 2907 Green Mount terrace, was taken in custody at Essex, Md., by police of that town tonight to answer to a charge of abduction lodged against him by Thomas J. Estes, of Essex, whose daughter, Elizabeth, aged 17, Hodges brought to Rockhall last Saturday night. It is said the couple stayed over the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Maggie Hodges, who lives there.

When Sheriff J. Thomas Hadaway here arrested Hodges at the request of Essex police yesterday he stated the girl's father had given his consent to their marriage last Saturday and that they proceeded to Westminster, Md., but arrived after the office of the marriage license bureau had closed. They then came to Rockhall and expected to be married today, according to Hodges.

Meanwhile Estes withdrew his consent and has had his daughter, who is under the Maryland age of consent, sent home.

Trap Set for Extortion Letter Writer Fails

Hagerstown, Md., July 1.—Warned in a letter to leave $600 in cash at a designated spot, Dr. Jacob S. Wisherd, retired physician, of Leitersburg, near here, carried out instructions, but the writer failed to walk into the trap set by county officers, who had surrounded the spot.

The letter, postmarked Waynesboro, Pa., was received last Friday by the doctor. It instructed him to place the money in a jar and designated a pole on the Marsh pike where he should bury it at 10 o'clock Saturday night. The physician buried the jar filled with paper slips.

The body was found an hour later. Lieut. Ford, a Norwegian, at the time of his death was under orders for assignment to the University of West Virginia.

Cambridge Invalid Takes His Own Life

Guy Bryan, Widely Known, Had Been Ill for Many Years.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cambridge, Md., July 1.—Guy L. Bryan, sr., one of the best known men of Dorchester County, shot and killed himself at his home here this morning. He had been an invalid for many years and had suffered much during the past year. He had been undergoing treatment at a Baltimore hospital a few weeks previous to his death. Depression due to his illness is believed to be responsible for his action.

Bryan was the son of the late Dr. James L. and Aurelia Pattison Bryan and had spent practically the whole of his life in Cambridge.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lucia Barton Bryan; one son, Guy L. Bryan, jr.; three sisters, Miss Jeanie Bryan and Mrs. Edwin Dashiell, both of Cambridge, and Mrs. N. More Apples Shipped For Export to England

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., July 1.—Six carloads of yellow transparent apples, the early variety grown in the Shenandoah Valley, will leave Harrisonburg this week for export to England. Four carloads, comprising the first export shipment, left here last week. The European demand for this early fruit is said to be strong, and the first shipment brought $2.50 per bushel.

These early apples are being packed in the plant of the Rockingham Apple Growers Association, 1 mile east of Harrisonburg. The bulk of the early shipments will come from the Rose Hill Orchards, located nearby, on Chestnut Ridge, the fruit-growing center of the Harrisonburg community.

Harrisonburg Posses Fail to Locate Burglar

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., July 1.—A week-end search by a sheriff's posse and citizens tonight had failed to locate Charles Broadway, colored, said to be of Washington, who is wanted for burglarizing the home of Mrs. Layton Bennett at Lacey Springs. The country-side around Lacey Springs and Melrose, 7 miles north of here, has been scoured for two days, the officers following bloodhounds.

Broadway has been working in the Lacey Spring community for several months. He was recognized by Mrs. Bennett as the intruder in her home and was frightened away, leaping from a 15-foot porch to escape.

Fishing Is Delayed By Muddy Streams

Anglers Are Disappointed as Blue Ridge Bass Season Opens.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., July 1.—The bass season opens west of the Blue Ridge Mountains today with rivers and other streams in the worst condition for fishing for a year or more, according to word brought here by anglers who had made a survey of the situation. Ample supplies of minnows and madtoms have been held in readiness as bait for a week, but devotees of the sport said there was little chance of using them with any measure of success, due to the muddy condition of the north and south branches of the Shenandoah River and tributary streams.

Recent heavy rains in all sections of northern and western Virginia have muddied the rivers to such an extent that even with clear weather they probably will not clear for another week. The Weather Bureau has forecasted additional showers or thunderstorms early this week and again "about Thursday." The rivers are higher than normal.

Hagerstown, Md., July 1.—The opening of the bass fishing season here found all streams in western Maryland, including the Potomac River muddy with no prospect of favorable fishing water for a week.

Child Is Allowed To Contest Will

Right of 9-Year-Old Girl to Fight Testament of Rail President Upheld.

Baltimore, Md., July 1 (A.P.).—The right of 9-year-old Josephine Metcalf Warfield, grandneice, to contest the will of S. Davies Warfield, late president of the Searboard Air Line was upheld by a ruling announced in Orphans Court today. A caveat to the will had been filed by counsel for the girl and was opposed in arguments before the court.

Attorneys for the will based their argument on the merits of the case before the court.

Attorneys for the girl will base their argument on the claim that the Maryland statute permitting her to stand as representative of her deceased father would not operate because an uncle was alive.

The court took this point under advisement and anounced today it had found she would share in the estate if the will were set aside and therefore was one of the next of kin, with a right to bring the suit. The will left the bulk of Mr. Warfield's estate to found a home for aged women.

POLISH MOUNTAIN ROAD TO BE WORKED

Elimination of Bad Curves on National Highway Will Begin Soon.

GREAT FILL TO BE MADE

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., July 1.—The most important improvement on the National highway since it has been made a modern thoroughfare is about to be begun about 14 miles east of Cumberland, at the foot of Polish Mountain, in the elimination of the many sharp, steep, treacherous curves that have been the bane of motorists and have been the cause of many accidents. This mountain, the second after leaving Cumberland going east, is said to be the most dangerous on the National highway, and the program for the elimination of the curves is most elaborate, involving great expense. The sharp curve at the west base of the mountain is to be taken away entirely and a great fill will be made that a "straight shot" may be made in starting the ascent. Fifteen or more sharp curves will be reduced or eliminated. This will require the removal of some 50,000 or 60,000 cubic yards of earth, which will be thrown over into the ravines for a new roadbed with as much reduction of grades as modern engineering will permit.

This work will be started by the contractors in a few days and nothing will be done toward shouldering the road, which is in the improvement program, until next year, in order that the new roadbed may be permitted to settle.

In the meantime the shouldering of the remander of the highway to connect with the concrete shouldering completed as far west as Conocheague Creek, about 5 miles west of Hagerstown, is in progress. With the exception of Poliah Mountain, all the shouldering will have been completed this year and by the end of next year the National Highway between Cumberland and Hagerstown, 65 miles, will have been greatly transformed with concrete shoulders the entire distance.

Concrete shoulders already extend from Cumberland to the top of Martins Mountain, the first mountain on the route east. The contractors are now making rapid progress in shouldering the east side of the mountain and the curve at the east base, opposite the historic Stone house, has been eliminated.

"Seven miles of the most treacherous and deceptive curved grade in the country will be improved with respect to curves and reduction of grade," said Leo T. Downey, district engineer of the State Roads Commission, under whose supervision the work will be done.

Virginia Will Examine Highway Water Supply

Richmond, Va., July 1 (A.P.).—An investigation of drinking water supplies at filling stations, lunch counters and at other "stops" along highways in Virginia will be started by the State Health Department early his month, health officials announced today. The work is being planned in connection with the recently inaugurated program of designating safe drinking supplies along highways throughout the State.

Signs notifying the traveler that water from the designated supply is safe for drinking will be placed at all supplies found to be pure, it was stated. The cards will bear the inscription, "Safe water: The State Health Department hereby certifies that the water served to the public at..... is regularly examined and regarded safe for drinking. Division of Sanitary Engineering."

Addition to Federal Building Is Planned

Four-Room Annex to Give More Space for Harrisonburg Postoffice.

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., July 1.—A four-room addition to the Harrisonburg Federal Building, providing additional office space for the Shenandoah National Forest Service and completing the second floor of the north wing of the building, is to be built as soon as the contract is awarded.

The improvements, which also will provide additional space for the clerk of the Federal District Court and for the money order and registry department of the postoffice, will cost $20,000.

The three Federal services housed in the Harrisonburg building have been cramped for working quarters for some time and Postmaster Charles A. Hammer feels that the addition will go a long way toward relieving the situation. Installation of 500 new lock boxes and remodeling of the postoffice lobby, under a separate contract, will begin tomorrow. This work will cost $2,500.

Miss Hill will receive her degree from the University of Virginia this summer.

Pest Threatens to Kill Hagerstown Shade Trees

Hagerstown, Md., July 1.—The sucking apsis has attacked many beautiful shade trees, some of them over a century old, here and threatening to kill them. The first discovery of the new pest was made in the grounds of the Washington County Hospitals here a week ago. A spray solution recommended by the State failed to kill the new apsis and it is spreading to many of the trees there.

A strange new pest, which has not yet been determined, is also causing much damage among weeping birch trees here. The apsis sucks the sap from the twigs. Maples are the first attacked.

Rappahannock's Apple Crop Is Cut Two-Thirds

Luray, Va., July 1.—The apple crop of Rappahannock—the principal fruit-producing county unit in Virginia—will be reduced this year to one-third of a normal yield by an unknown and uncontrollable blight. A peculiarity of the blight is that it starts in the tops of the trees, working downward. In some places only the south and southeastern sides of the trees are embraced.

For several years the blight has been manifesting itself in mild form in orchards scattered throughout the county. This year it has become almost wholesale. In orchards where three and four years ago the yield of apples reached 10,000, 20,000 and 30,000 barrels, this year's crop will be reduced two-thirds or more, according to reports reaching Luray. Rappahannock for several years has been shipping more apples to the London and Liverpol markets than any four counties in Virginia.

Martinsburg Auto Crashes Injure 5

Woman With Broken Neck May Die as Result of Collision.

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 1.—Five persons were injured. Four of them seriously, in more than a half dozen motor accidents in this section over the week-end.

Anna May Marple, this city, is in a hospital with a broken neck and fractured skull, probably fatally injured; Rosetta Eller, Hagerstown, Md., is seriously cut and bruised, and Morris Miller, this city, had an ear torn off and was cut when the car he was driving, with the two women as passengers, crashed head-on into a car driven by a negro. The wreck occurred 7 miles west of here on the State road. Another man in the car was not hurt.

William Beach, Roanoke, Va., tobacco salesman, drove his car into a pole along the State highway to Charles Town and sustained fractured ribs and lacerations. The pole he hit was one that replaced a pole against which M. J. Miller, this city, wrecked his car several years ago, with fatal injuries to himself.

Lawrence Adams, this county, sustained a fractured skull when his car hit a pole near Bunker Hill, south of here. He was brought unconscious to a local hospital.

Christian Science Church Is Opened

Group at Charlottesville Holds First Service in New Structure.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., July 1.—The Christian Science Society of Charlottesville yesterday held its first service in the new church building recently completed on Grady avenue, near the University of Virginia.

The building just erected, a Sunday school room, is the first unit of a new and modern Christian Science church to be built on the property. The ground has already been purchased and plans for the church have been drawn. The new church will face upon Rugby Road, and the Sunday school room will then be at the back of the church.

It is generally felt that the move from the meeting hall in the Haden Apartments, downtown, which has been used up to this time, marks a milestone in the growth of Christian Science in this city. The society was organized in Charlottesville in 1920 by a small group of individuals. In the past ten years the society has grown until at the present time there are more than 60 attending members—has grown from a mere handful into an organized congregation.

The new Sunday school room, on which work was first begun in March, has a seating capacity of about 100.
